Cities And Planning In The Ancient Near East:

Cities and Planning in the Ancient Near East Paul Lampl, 1960 Planning Cities. Vol.2 The Ancient Near East G. R. Collins, P. Lampl, 1968 Cultural Interaction in the Ancient Near East Guy Bunnens, 1996 The volume includes eleven of the papers read by scholars from Australia New Zealand England France and Belgium at a conference held at the University of Melbourne in September 1994 The papers cover a wide range of topics dealing with cultural interaction between various parts of the Ancient Near East from the Bronze Age to late Antiquity Sunlight and Shade in the First Cities Mary Shepperson, 2017-01-16 The emergence of urbanism in Iraq occurred under the distinctive climatic conditions of the Mesopotamian plain rainy winters and extremely hot summers profoundly affected the formation and development of these early cities Sunlight and Shade in the First Cities explores the relationship between society culture and lived experience through the way in which sunlight was manipulated in the urban built environment Light is approached as both a physical phenomenon which affects comfort and the practical usability of space and as a symbolic phenomenon rich in social and religious meaning Through the reconstruction of ancient urban light environments to the extent possible from the archaeological remains the location timing and meaning of activities within early Mesopotamian cities become accessible Sunlight is shown to have influenced the formation and symbolism of urban architecture and shaped the sensory experience of urban life From cities as part of the sunlit landscape this work progresses to consider city forms as a whole and then to the examination of architectural types residential sacred and palatial Architectural analysis is complemented by analysis of contemporary textual sources along with iconographic and artefactual evidence The cities under detailed examination are limited to those on the Mesopotamian plain focusing on the Early Dynastic periods up to the end of the second millennium BC This volume demonstrates the utility of light as a tool with which to analyse not just ancient Mesopotamian settlements but the built environment of any past society especially where provision of or protection from sunlight critically affects life The active influence of sunlight is demonstrated within Mesopotamian cities at every scale of analysis The Fabric of Cities Natalie N. May, Ulrike Steinert, 2013-10-17 The Fabric of Cities presents an interdisciplinary collection of articles on urbanism in ancient Mesopotamia Israel Greece and Rome which focuses on the social dimension of cities topographical features The contributions of this book offer investigations of neighbourhoods city gates streets temples and palaces drawing on textual and archaeological sources as well as art The topics treated in this work encompass the diverse functions of public and marginal spaces in Mesopotamian cities and Rome the role of agency in the development of Babylonian neighbourhoods the relationship between public and private in Assyrian palaces the connection between political strategies and temple building in Sumerian literary texts and the communicative uses of language in Classical Greek texts to talk about urban space

Cities and Power Göran Therborn, 2017-10-02 What do cities tell us about power How does power shape cities These are the main questions answered by a multidisciplinary set of eminent urban scholar in crisp articles on capital cities from around the world from Buenos Aires to Tokyo from Jakarta to Moscow Focus is on contemporary cities and their manifestations and representations of power though often with a historical grounding and the collection also includes an example of archaeological urban analysis from northern Mesopotamia Through its variety of approaches by leading scholars of the field and its variety of cities with their different histories and their diverse national contexts and political organization the book gives a uniquely insightful and easily accessible world overview of cities of power This book was published as a special issue of the International Journal of Urban Sciences

The Oxford Handbook of Cities in World History Peter Clark, 2013-02-14 In 2008 for the first time the majority of the planet's inhabitants lived in cities and towns Becoming globally urban has been one of mankind's greatest collective achievements over time Written by leading scholar this is the first detailed survey of the world's cities and towns from ancient times to the present day
