A Curriculum for Citizenship Citizenship Education Study, Detroit, Arnold R. Meier, 1952 Improving Citizenship Education Columbia University. Teachers College. Citizenship Education Project, 1952 Citizenship Education Through the Use of Class-developed Materials United States. Immigration and Naturalization Service, Mary C. Evans, Victor P. Morey, 1945 Schools, Curriculum and Civic Education for Building Democratic Citizens Murray Print, Dirk Lange, 2013-02-12

How can schools and the school curriculum contribute to building democratic citizens This is a major question posed by governments educational systems schools teachers and researchers around the world One important way is to identify the competences needed for preparing democratic citizens and incorporate these within both the formal and informal school curriculum Another question must then be posed what competences do young citizens need to be considered as active and engaged in modern democracies In 2011 an invited research symposium of leading civic and political educators and social scientists from across Europe met in Hannover Germany to consider this key concern facing Europe today In examining the above questions the symposium addressed two significant issues 1 Identify key competencies required for active citizenship of young people in Europe of the future 2 Translate those competencies to school based activities in the form of curricular and pedagogical strategies The publication Civic Education and Competences for Engaging Citizens in Democracies addressed the first issue and this volume addresses the second issue Through discussion in the invited symposium previously prepared papers and participation in a modified Delphi Technique the participants have prepared chapters for this book The chapters of this book represent the contribution of the participants before during and after the symposium with opportunities for review and reflection about competences for democratic citizenship and the role of schools and the curriculum Murray Print and Dirk Lange are professors from the University of Sydney and Leibniz University of Hannover respectively and are national leaders in civics and citizenship education in their respective countries They have brought together a group of leading European civic and citizenship educators from different academic fields to explore the key issue and to identify the competences for young people to become active and engaged European citizens

The Citizen in Teaching and Education Ralph Leighton, Laila Nielsen, 2020-02-01 This book examines the importance and potential of citizenship education using extensive qualitative data from England and Sweden The authors draw on the work of Nira Yuval Davis and other prominent scholars in the field to frame citizenship as membership of numerous communities for example disability ethnicity gender sexuality and social class This intersectional approach enables a rich understanding of the experiences and capabilities of young people and bridges the gap between the formal meaning and real experiences of citizenship The book presents case studies from England and Sweden two contexts that have similar societies and school systems but very different approaches to citizenship education Using this rich data the authors illuminate the perspectives of young learners and their teachers to understand how learners can uphold their rights and responsibilities as citizens This book will be of interest and value to scholars of social justice and citizenship education Citizenship Education And The Modern State Kerry Kennedy, 2012-11-12 Citizenship education has recently re emerged as an important issue both in policy and in practice As the nation state undergoes rapid transformation at the end of the 20th century both Eastern and Western states have focused attention on using the school curriculum as a medium for sustaining cohesion and unity within society But as we approach the 21st century is the possibility of a common citizenship a reality This book is designed to provide educators with access to ideas and information that will help them to understand current citizenship education initiatives across a number of countries It provides a theoretical rationale in which to consider those issues illustrates how such issues are being worked out in practice in a number of countries and provides assistance for policy makers teacher educators and teachers who are responsible for making decisions about the context of citizenship education programmes for schools

Citizens by Right Reva Klein, 2001 A Save the Children project in four inner city primary schools fired the children's enthusiasm for Citizenship Education Reva Klein describes how the human rights approach trialled in these schools can be adopted by teachers to involve children in this new curriculum subject at Key Stages One and Two The book supports teachers in two ways it presents the main Human Rights legislation in the UK and Europe that is relevant to children and those working with them in schools it offers guidance on classroom activities for each year of primary school that have been proven to engage children and foster their learning The book will be invaluable in all primary schools It will also be essential reading for teacher trainers and for all courses on citizenship education at primary level Schools and the Development of Good Citizens Citizenship Education Study, Detroit, Citizenship Education Study (Detroit, Mich.), Stanley Ellwood Dimond, 1953 The Citizenship Education Study of the Detroit Public Schools and Wayne University ... Citizenship Education Study, Detroit, 1950 Making Civics Count David E. Campbell, Meira Levinson, Frederick M. Hess, 2012 By nearly every measure Americans are less engaged in their communities and political activity than generations past So write the editors of this volume who survey the current practices and history of citizenship education in the United States They argue that the current period of creative destruction when schools are closing and opening in response to reform mandates is an ideal time to take an in depth look at how successful strategies and programs promote civic education and good citizenship Making Civics Count offers research based insights into what diverse students and teachers know and do as civic actors and proposes a blueprint for civic education for a new generation that is both practical and visionary This collection of state of the art essays advances the discussion of civics from noble aspiration to empirical evidence and pedagogical practice The authors all noted scholars have shown us how to improve civic education and in the process how to strengthen our democracy It's time for policymakers to pay attention William A Galston Ezra Zilkha Chair in Governance Studies The Brookings Institution Making Civics Count models a brilliant alternative to the ideological polarization and paralysis that dominates civic education discourse Campbell Levinson Hess and the other contributors to this volume hail from across the political spectrum but share a critical commitment to reinvigorate dialogue around civic education They seek not consensus but spirited engagement with ideas with solid empirical data and with visions for a more robust democracy This is an important book for scholars policymakers and anyone interested in civic education s future Joel Westheimer university research chair sociology of education University of Ottawa This compelling and persuasive book shows that an open climate for discussion of current issues teachers preparation across subject areas and the new digital media can help foster a vision of democracy and counter prevailing inequality Judith Torney Purta professor of human development University of Maryland David E Campbell is professor of political science at the University of Notre Dame and founding director of the Rooney Center for the Study of American Democracy Meira Levinson is an associate professor at the Harvard Graduate School of Education Frederick M Hess is resident scholar and director of education policy studies at the American Enterprise Institute

Citizenship and Citizenship Education in a Changing World Orit Ichilov,2013-12-19 Political economic technological and cultural changes have taken place all over the globe changes which have transformed the meanings of citizenship and citizenship education This volume represents an effort to analyze the implications of these changes The Revival of Civic Learning Robert Freeman Butts,1980 The ideal of good citizenship is examined in light of current social and political unrest brought about at least in part by the agitation of special interest groups Emphasis is placed on the role of citizenship education in the schools The monograph is intended particularly for educators who want to improve citizenship education programs The document is presented in five chapters Chapter one identifies the major citizenship education challenge of the 1980s as the conflict between privatism in politics due to a deterioration of national trust in the political system and pluralism in education resulting from attitudes that glorified doing one s own thing and from the belief that authority for education should rest primarily with the diverse pluralistic communities in American society Chapter two contrasts ideas of citizenship in modern democratic societies and in Greco Roman republics Chapter three presents an historical perspective on citizenship education in the United States from the 1770s to the 1970s Chapter four identifies major approaches to reform of civic education including academic disciplines particularly history and sociology law related education social problems critical thinking values education moral development community involvement and institutional school reform The final chapter offers suggestions for improving citizenship education programs including incorporating political values political knowledge and the skills of political participation into the curriculum encouraging common understanding of and commitment to democratic values and encouraging student understanding of citizenship concepts such as justice freedom equality diversity authority privacy due process participation and international human rights DB Creating Citizenship Communities I. Davies,V. Sundaram,G. Hampden-Thompson,M. Tsouroufli,G. Bramley,T. Breslin,T. Thorpe,2014-08-12 On the basis of a national research project undertaken in England this volume explores how and why young people s engagement is so important globally in education and society and looks at what teachers and students think about citizenship and community The authors make recommendations to enhance understanding and the potential for engagement

Secondary School 3rd edition A Curriculum for Citizenship Meier Arnold R,Arnold R.. Meier,Florence Damon Cleary,Davis Alice M,Alice M.. Davis,1952 Changing Citizenship Osler, Audrey,Starkey, Hugh,2005-04-01 Changing Citizenship supports educators in understanding the links between global change and the everyday realities of teachers and learners It explores the role that schools can play in creating a new vision of citizenship for multicultural democracies Citizenship Education around the World John Petrovic,Aaron Kuntz,2014-04-24 Though certainly not a new idea citizenship education manifests in unique and often unpredictable ways in our contemporary neoliberal era The question of what it means to be a productive and recognized citizen must now be understood simultaneously along both global and local lines This edited volume offers an international perspective on citizenship education enacted in specific socio political contexts Each chapter includes a pointed conceptualization of citizenship education a philosophical framework that is then applied to specific national cases across Europe Asia Canada and more Chapters emphasize how such frameworks are implemented within local contexts encouraging particular pedagogical curricular practices even as they constrain others Chapters conclude with suggestions for productive change and how educators might usefully engage contemporary contexts through citizenship education
