Nutritional Evaluation of Food Processing Endel Karmas, Robert S. Harris, 2012-12-06 Dramatic changes in the attitudes toward human nutrition have taken place during the past decade Food related and medical professionals as well as consumers are now more than ever before aware of and concerned about diet nutrition and the beneficial and deleterious effects of food processing upon nutrients The old saying We are what we eat is still relevant Nutritious food will contribute greatly to consumers good health and ultimately reduce medical bills Food processing is essential to maintaining our food reserves from one harvest to another thus letting us serve our daily meals regularly If food processing is defined as including all treatments of foodstuffs from harvest to consumption then more than 95% of our food may be considered as processed In most cases food processing and storage cause some reduction in the nutritional value of foods Advances in food science and food technology have resulted in an increase in nutrient retention after processing In addition today's consumer better understands how to avoid excessive nutrient losses during food preparation The information presented in this completely revised reference and textbook will help the reader to understand better the relationship between food processing and nutrient retention The authors scholarly contributions are greatly appreciated

Production and Packaging of Non-Carbonated Fruit Juices and Fruit Beverages Philip R. Ashurst, 2013-11-09 In the period of about five years since the first edition of this book appeared many changes have occurred in the fruit juice and beverage markets The growth of markets has continued blunted to some extent no doubt by the recession that has featured prominently in the economies of the major consuming nations But perhaps the most significant area that has affected juices in particular is the issue of authenticity Commercial scandals of substantial proportions have been seen on both sides of the Atlantic because of fraudulent practice Major strides have been made in the development of techniques to detect and measure adulterants in the major juices A contribution to Chapter 1 describes one of the more important scientific techniques to have been developed as a routine test method to detect the addition of carbohydrates to juices Another and perhaps more welcome development in non carbonated beverages during the past few years is the rapid growth of sports drinks Beverages based on glucose syrup have been popular for many years and in some parts of the world isotonic products have long featured in the sports arena A combination of benefits is now available from a wide range of preparations formulated and marketed as sports drinks and featuring widely in beverage markets world wide A new chapter reviews their formulation and performance characteristics Another major trend in the area of fruit containing non carbonated beverages is the highly successful marketing of ready to drink products Citrus Nutrition and Quality Steven Nagy,John A.
