Cities Of Ladies:

The Book of the City of Ladies Christine de Pizan, 1364-1430 was France's first professional woman of letters. Her pioneering Book of the City of Ladies begins when feeling frustrated and miserable after reading a male writer's tirade against women. Christine has a dreamlike vision where three virtues—Reason, Rectitude, and Justice—appear to correct this view. They instruct her to build an allegorical city in which womankind can be defended against slander; its walls and towers are constructed from examples of female achievement, both from her own day and the past, ranging from warriors, inventors, and scholars to prophetesses, artists, and saints. Christine de Pizan's spirited defence of her sex was unique for its direct confrontation of the misogyny of her day and offers a telling insight into the position of women in medieval culture.

THE CITY OF LADIES provides positive images of women ranging from warriors and inventors, scholars to prophetesses and artists to saints. The book also offers a fascinating insight into the debates and controversies about the position of women in medieval culture.

The Treasure of the City of Ladies Christine de Pizan, 1365 ca. Written by Europe's first professional woman writer, The Treasure of the City of Ladies offers advice and guidance to women of all ages and from all levels of medieval society, from royal courtiers to prostitutes. It paints an intricate picture of daily life in the courts and streets of fifteenth-century France and gives a fascinating glimpse into the practical considerations of running a household, dressing appropriately, and maintaining a reputation in all circumstances. Christine de Pizan's book provides a valuable counterbalance to male accounts of life in the middle ages and demonstrates often with dry humour how a woman's position in society could be made less precarious by following the correct etiquette.

The Book of the City of Ladies Christine (de Pisan), 1365 ca. In dialogues with three celestial ladies—Reason, Rectitude, and Justice—Christine de Pizan (1365 ca. 1430) builds an allegorical fortified city for women using examples of the important contributions women have made to Western Civilization and arguments that prove their intellectual and moral equality to men. Earl Jeffrey Richards' acclaimed translation is used nationwide in the most eminent colleges and universities in America, from Columbia to Stanford.
