

The background of the cover is a detailed illustration of a futuristic space station or lunar base. The structure is composed of various metallic beams, platforms, and walkways, all rendered in shades of grey and blue. A prominent feature is a bright, glowing yellow light source, possibly a reactor or a large lamp, which casts a powerful beam of light downwards. In the upper right, there are red structural elements. In the lower right, a small satellite or probe is visible against the dark, starry background of space. The overall scene is set against a dark, atmospheric sky with some light clouds or smoke.
