Housing Disadvantaged People? Jane Ball, 2012-06-25 Social housing appears to offer a solution for the housing of poor and disadvantaged people The French right to housing offers poor and disadvantaged citizens priority in social housing allocation and even a legal action against the State to obtain a social home Despite this France is suffering a long lasting housing crisis with disadvantaged people having particular difficulties of access often despite the efforts of local housing actors This situation is affected by the European Court of Human Rights and EU decisions limiting diverse national housing and rental policies Between historic French revolutions and the modern riots negotiated solutions to social dilemmas emerged Despite progress in constitutional principles complex local negotiations still ultimately determine who is housed Local social landlords mayors and employee and tenant representatives use their privileges to house their insiders existing tenants locals and employees with rent insufficiently subsidized Insider Outsider theory is used for an economic analysis of exclusion in social housing allocation its processes institutional context and stigmatizing effects This highlights the spatial effects of nimbyism excluding disadvantaged outsiders and concentrating them in deprived areas Simultaneously urban regeneration reduced affordable housing stock and social mix became a reason to refuse a social home History comparative law economic theory and local interviews with housing actors give a detailed picture of what happens in and around French social housing allocation for an interdisciplinary housing policy audience Constitutional principles appear in an unfamiliar guise as negotiating positions with the right to property supporting landlords and the right to housing supporting tenants French debates about the function of social landlords are echoed across Europe and reflected in European policies concerning rights and the exclusion of disadvantaged minorities Astrodynamics 2007 ,2008 Competitive Tendering of Rail Services European Conference of Ministers of Transport,2007-10-31 Competitive tendering provides a way to introduce competition to railways whilst preserving an integrated network of services It has been used for freight railways in some countries but is particularly attractive for passenger networks when subsidised services make competition between trains serving the same routes difficult or impossible to organise Governments promote competition in railways to reduce costs not least to the tax payer and to improve levels of service to customers Concessions are also designed to bring much needed private capital into the rail industry The success of competitive tendering in achieving these outcomes depends critically on the way risks are assigned between the government and private train operators It also depends on the transparency and durability of the regulatory framework established to protect both the public interest and the interests of concession holders and on the incentives created by franchise agreements This report examines experience to date from around the world in competitively tendering rail services It seeks to draw lessons for effective design of concessions and regulation from both the successful and less successful cases examined The work is based on detailed examinations by leading experts of the experience of passenger rail concessions in the United Kingdom Australia Germany Sweden and the Netherlands It also draws on examples of freight rail concessions in Latin America American Wholesalers and Distributors Directory Gale Group,2004-09 American Wholesalers and Distributors Directory provides detailed listings for more than 30 000 large and small wholesalers and distributors throughout the U S and Puerto Rico Entries include the name and address of the organization phone and fax numbers company e mail and URL addresses SIC code principal product lines total number of employees estimated annual sales volume and a list of principal officers with titles and personal e mail addresses when available Ulrich's International Periodicals Directory Carolyn Farquhar Ulrich,1998 Astrodynamics 2011 Astrodynamics Specialist Conference,2012 Guidance and Control 2008 Michael E.
