

10 Best Audition Monologues for Actors

backstage.com/advice-for-actors/acting-teachers/10-top-monologues-for-actors/

Let's be clear: There is no such thing as a perfect list of the best monologues for actors. I know the audition monologues I personally love, such as Hamlet's advice to the players—beautiful poetry, a great character, and funny to boot—but not everyone can or should play Hamlet. What I'm saying is that the monologue must fit the actor and vice versa. I can tell you that such and such monologue is a great one, but if it doesn't fit you and you don't love performing it, what good does it do you to learn it?

And while I'm on the subject of the classics, when you're asked to audition with a short Shakespearean monologue of your choice, do not fool yourself into thinking you should do one of the sonnets, just to be different. There are scores and scores of glorious characters and monologues in Shakespeare's plays, some in poetry, some in prose.

Actors always ask me if they should do a comic or a serious piece. I say do what you like, choose the best monologue for you, but to my mind it's much more difficult to score points in a short time with comedy.

Many actors ask, "What exactly is a monologue?" It is, according to Webster's New World College Dictionary, "a passage or composition, in verse or prose, presenting the words or thoughts of a single character." What it is not is dialogue stitched together that eliminates the other character's lines. I guess the perfect example is again from "Hamlet": the monologue that begins, "To be or not to be." The title character is alone on stage and, depending on how the director has imagined the moment, either speaking to himself or speaking directly to the audience.

So what follows is merely a jumping-off place. I urge you to read, read more, and then read even more. Fall in love with the writer's words and choose the best monologue in which you can show that love to us. Find plays you're familiar with and read plays that others suggest to you. If you see a play like Eugene O'Neill's "Desire Under the Elms" or "Mourning Becomes Electra" or Friedrich Schiller's "Mary Stuart" or Neil Simon's "The Odd Couple" or Rodgers and Hammerstein's "South Pacific"—all five of which were performed in New York during the past three seasons—and you like what you see, why not read all of O'Neill, Schiller, Simon, or Rodgers and Hammerstein?

Audition with a monologue from a musical? Of course. There are lots of them, and some make terrific audition pieces. My favorite is spoken by Cornelius Hackl in "Hello, Dolly!" Cornelius, along with everyone else onstage, has been arrested, and he takes time out in jail to speak to the audience and ask if they realize how beautiful and wonderful his new ladylove is. It comes directly from the Thornton Wilder comedy "The Matchmaker," and it works because it's highly romantic and sweetly comic. Everyone who has just fallen in love can empathize with Cornelius.

1. "Measure for Measure"

by William Shakespeare: Claudio

A young man might want to look at the character of Claudio in this play. He has a superb monologue addressed to his sister. Claudio has been arrested for lewd behavior, and she tells him to give up his life rather than force her to give up her virginity. It begins, "Aye, but to die and go we know not where." He suddenly realizes that his very life is at stake and wants to make his sister understand how desperate he
