Advertising As Multilingual Communication:

Advertising as Multilingual Communication H. Kelly-Holmes, 2016-01-11 Advertising has traditionally communicated messages to consumers with strong local and national identities. However, increasingly, products, producers, advertising agencies, and media are becoming internationalized. In the development of strategies that appeal to a large multinational consumer base, advertising language takes on new multilingual features. The author explores the role of advertising language in this new globalized environment from a communicative theory point of view as well as from a close linguistic analysis of some major advertising campaigns within a multicultural and multilingual marketplace. Applied Linguistics Review, 2010

1 Li Wei, 2010 The Applied Linguistics Review is a peer-reviewed annual publication. It aims to serve as a testing ground for the articulation of original ideas and approaches in the study of real-world issues in which language plays a crucial role by bringing together new empirical and theoretical research and critical reflections of current debates. The issues dealt with in the Review range from aspects of the linguistic and communicative competence of the individual such as bilingualism and multilingualism, first or second language acquisition, literacy, language disorders, to language and communication-related problems in and between societies such as linguistic discrimination, language conflict, communication in the workplace, language policy, and language planning and language ideology. Book Jacket
