name who cares not just about this season's bookings but about whether the landscape and the community that make those bookings possible will still be here in twenty years. It was not written for ministries of tourism, international consultancy firms, or development banks. Those institutions have their own extensive literature and their own resources. What they have not reliably produced is a guide written from the perspective of the person actually running the operation, one that takes seriously the reality that most tourism SMEs in emerging destinations begin not with a marketing budget and an international operator relationship but with a product worth visiting, a team that cares, and one honest question: where do we actually start? The answer this book gives to that question is: deliberate start with the market closest to you. Build your domestic market first. Learn your business through the honest feedback of guests who share your language and cultural context. Generate reviews, refine your product, and build a financial base that makes everything else possible. Extend to regional markets next. Then when your product is genuinely excellent and your operational capability is genuinely ready, open yourself to the international markets where the highest spending visitors are found.
