Critical Moments Death And Dying In Intensive Care:

Critical Moments Jane Seymour,2001 This work explores how the withdrawal of active medical treatment is managed in intensive care units placing this in the context of detailed patient case studies A Good Death: On The Value Of Death And Dying Sandman, Lars,2004-09-01 Sandman highlights how our changing ideas about the value of life shape the concept of a good death He explores the varying perspectives on the good death that come from friends family physicians spiritual carers and others close to the dying person Setting out a number of arguments for and against existing thinking about a good death this book links to the practice of palliative care in several key areas He concludes that it is difficult to find convincing reasons for any one way to die a good death and argues for a pluralist approach Anaesthesia, Pain, Intensive Care and Emergency Medicine — A.P.I.C.E. A. Gullo,2012-12-06 Continuous update in critical care medicine is a real challenge due to the growing dimensions of its contents these elements are the result of new research acquisitions and of those clinical situations where the physician is able to intervene at a given moment with the use of effective prevention techniques They are also the result of new technologies able to define complex sub clinical diagnostic aspects lastly they are the result of effective therapeutic techniques available and of treatment strategies able to influence radically and positively the patient s clinical course Critical care medicine is playing a key role in the most advanced environments as it represents a cross sectional field of action involving several specialties such as anesthesiology general medicine surgery pediatrics

Communicating Quality and Safety in Health Care Rick Iedema,Donella Piper,Marie Manidis,2015-08-11 Written by prominent and internationally renowned scholars Communicating Quality and Safety in Healthcare engages healthcare trainees from across medicine nursing and allied health services in a comprehensive and probing discussion of the communication demands that confront today s healthcare teams Palliative Care Nursing O'Connor Margaret,Aranda Sanchia,2018-10-08 Written by experienced authorities from around the world giving a wider international perspective on palliative nursing this substantially expanded new edition has been specifically adapted to reflect working practices within the NHS All nurses especially those that are new to palliative care and those working in other areas of health where palliative skills are required will find this essential reading Grief, Mourning, and Death Ritual Jennifer Lorna Hockey,Jeanne Katz,Neil Small,2001 It does this by combining substantial reviews with shorter illustrative examples of grief mourning and death ritual as they are manifest in specific settings and with defined groups These illustrative examples include personal and institutional responses to death at different points in the life cycle and responses to different sorts of death the death of children and death in disasters for example Transitions in End of Life Care David Clark,Michael Wright,Jacek Łuczak,2003 To what extent have hospice and palliative care developments taken hold in the countries of Eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union Has health care reform in the wake of communism provided a climate for palliative care innovation In which countries of Eastern Europe and Central Asia have palliative care developments been most pronounced and what is the key to their success Above all what obstacles to improvement still exist and how can these be overcome This study sets out to answer these questions and to provide a detailed analysis of hospice and related services in a vast region comprising 28 countries and a population of over 400 million people This work provides valuable reading for anyone concerned with improving the level of provision of hospice and palliative care services in Eastern Europe Central Asia and indeed elsewhere in the world

The Ethics of Palliative Care H. ten Have, David Clark, 2002 This volume provides a picture of palliative care ethics in the European context It should interest those involved in the delivery and management of palliative care services as well as students and researchers

The Dying Soul Mark Cobb, 2001 Holistic models of palliative care frequently refer to spirituality as an important element But what is meant by spirituality and how do we provide spiritual care This work looks at how it is experienced and expressed in terminal care

Hidden Aspects of Palliative Care Brian Nyatanga, Maxine Astley-Pepper, 2005 Focuses on some of the hidden challenges and aspects found in palliative care provision The author brings a wealth of insight into the difficult and challenging questions that are not always discussed openly in palliative care settings It explores the differences what is said openly and what is documented in patient records

Palliative Care and Communication Anne-Mei The, 2002 Palliative Care and Communication seeks explanations for the sense of optimism found among patients with small cell bronchial carcinoma or lung cancer Over a period of five years the author used ethnographic research methods to monitor the illness processes of patients from the time of receiving bad news until their death from the perspectives of the various people involved the patient family and relatives the doctors and nursing staff Based on narrative descriptions interspersed with observations the author demonstrates why things happen the way they do in practice The book explores informal codes ambiguous messages the dilemma between professional detachment and personal involvement patterns of information and communication during the phases of the illness the latent realisation of approaching death and the ambivalence of patients with regard to knowing and not knowing Anne Mei The's engaging writing style and extensive use of narrative make this book accessible to a wide range of readers doctors nurses policy makers patients relatives researchers in the field of health care and social scientists It is suitable for use on various branches of medical and nursing training to illustrate the process of communication with patients during the terminal phase of a patient's illness

Researching Palliative Care David Field, 2001 There are many texts available on research methods but few that are related directly to palliative treatment This book fills the gap in the literature and provides a useful resource for students engaged in such activity

Culture and Cancer Care Simon Dein, 2006 Cancer is more than a biological disease Cultural factors are involved at every stage in the journey through cancer from prevention to palliative care Based upon recent studies from the United Kingdom Europe and the United States Culture and Cancer Care examines a number of cultural themes in relation to cancer including The disparity of rates of cancer among different ethnic groups Culture and screening Breaking bad news and communication Cultural variations in emotional responses to cancer Cultural variability in cancer treatments and the influence on prognosis Palliative care across cultures The book focuses on three main themes culture race and ethnicity and their relationship to cancer the cultural context of sickness and help seeking behaviour the shift from biomedicine to alternative forms of treatment Throughout the book a critical stance is adopted towards race and culture focusing on the relation between these concepts and social deprivation Culture and Cancer Care is key reading for students researchers and practitioners in oncology and palliative care offering a clear analysis of cultural differences with regard to illness and health care as well as suggestions of how ethnic disparities can be overcome both at a political and local level through cultural understanding and culturally appropriate health education
