Critique Action And Liberation:

Critique, Action, and Liberation James L. Marsh,1995-01-01 Critique Action and Liberation is an original work in critical social theory that develops an approach to and method for social and political science Drawing on the work of Habermas Marcuse Adorno Offe Marx and David Harvey Marsh develops an ethics and a social phenomenology of the self as communicative subject He then advances an interpretation and critique of modernity late capitalism and state socialism

From Communicative Action to the Face of the Other Steve Hendley,2000-01-01 Although the continental philosophers JYrgen Habermas and Emmanuel Levinas are both inescapably important to an array of debates in contemporary moral theory they are rarely assessed in relation to each other Not only are their basic agendas different whereas Habermas s discourse ethics are framed within a general concern for democratic political theory Levinas s work is largely indifferent if not hostile to political concerns but their philosophical styles dramatically contrast as well Steven Hendley s study is based on the conviction that beneath the surface there is in fact a remarkable degree of convergence in the two philosophers work that is usually overlooked Hendley discovers and explains the complementarity of Levinas s conception of discourse as relation to the Other to Habermas s theory of communication as the basis for recognition of universal moral norms and he presents a clear defense and validation of Levinas s position on the construction of political theory From Communicative Action to the Face of the Other is a unique endeavor that achieves new and important connections in the contemporary scholarship in philosophy and political theory
