

GOtha

Few territories are as important to Cross as Gotha, the seat of the Empire and the heart of the Cross War Machine.

After the dismantling of Alaga, Gotha was the province which contributed the most to the formation of CROSS as a whole, which places them in a privileged and prestigious position among all cross territories.

Due to this support Gotha is able to maintain the largest military industrial complex in all of Cross. Putting to shame the production facilities of all other territories as a whole. This in turn means that Gotha locks specialization of production, producing weapons and equipment of all types.

Because of this, Gotha was on the forefront of engineering the first generation of Space Vessels and became the example by which most other nations gauge their space craft.

Additionally, Gotha is the birthplace of the Nova. Specially engineered synthetic Heliforms bred and trained to combat the ever present Andros Menace. It was because of these killing machines that humanity was able to retain its grip on the planet despite the disadvantage in numbers.

Within Gotha exists several Military Orders which operate in tandem with the Cross Military.
