

The background of the slide is a painting depicting a military landing operation on a beach. In the foreground, there are several soldiers in dark uniforms, some appearing to be in the water or wading. In the middle ground, there are several tanks and other military vehicles on the beach. The background shows a hazy, overcast sky and distant hills or mountains. The overall color palette is muted, with a lot of browns, greys, and blues.

George S Patton gave a speech in the southeast of England to the men of the U S Army where he spoke of the American desire to win and of how losing was hateful to Americans As he rose to his crescendo he said how much he pitied those sons of bitches we are going up against by God I do On that same day General Omar Bradley gave a calmer speech in Somerset England to the men under his command about how much rested on the upcoming invasion of northern France and how vital their role was in achieving victory Apart from the very different tones of the speeches reflecting the opposite character of the two army commanders there was another big difference Bradley was speaking to men who in a little over a week would be splashing ashore on the beaches of Normandy Patton was addressing an army that didn t exist The Army That Never Was tells the story of the biggest deception operation of World War II the plan to mislead the Germans into thinking that the invasion of Europe would come at Pas de Calais instead of Normandy by inventing an entirely fake army unit during Operation Fortitude Full of fascinating characters from the American British and German forces this compelling and propulsive narrative explores one of the most remarkable stories of World War II
