Critical Paths Designing For Secure Trav:

Critical Paths Stephen T. Atkins,1989 Critical Paths is about safer design of walkways used by travellers Atkins sets out the general principles by which the environmental design operation and management of transport systems can reduce opportunities for crime showing how to integrate the roles of designer planner and operator for effective crime control

ECMT Round Tables Vandalism, Terrorism and Security in Urban Public Passenger Transport European Conference of Ministers of Transport,2003-06-02 The reader will find in this publication the recommendations which the Round Table made on ways to combat vandalism in urban public transport

Collaborative Design Stephen A.R. Scrivener,Linden J. Ball,Andree Woodcock,2012-12-06 Design occurs in a rich social context where the effectiveness and efficiency of social interaction and collective performance are key to successful outcomes Increasingly design is being explored and developed as a collective collaborative participatory and even community process The heightened recognition of designing as a social process has stimulated interest in collaborative design This book contains the proceedings of the international conference CoDesigning 2000 held in Coventry England September 2000 During this meeting exponents from a wide range of design domains came together to present and discuss perspectives on and new knowledge and understanding of collaborative design and the evidence for enhanced design performance through collaboration Within this volume different motivations for conceptions of and findings about collaborative design are addressed in 50 contributions by different research groups Structured into 6 sections according to the main fields of interest it provides a survey of the state of scientifically based knowledge and trends emerging from collaborative design research and their implications for a wide range of domains

The Urban Fabric of Crime and Fear Vania Ceccato,2012-06-21 How does the city s urban fabric relate to crime and fear and how is that fabric affected by crime and fear Does the urban environment affect one s decision to commit an offence Is there a victimisation related inequality within cities How do crime and fear interrelate to inequality and segregation in cities of developing countries What are the challenges to planning cities which are both safe and sustainable This book searches for answers to these questions in the nature of the city particularly in the social interactions that take place in urban space distinctively guided by different land uses and people s activities In other words the book deals with the urban fabric of crime and fear The novelty of the book is to place safety and security issues on the urban scale by 1 showing links between urban structure and crime and fear 2 illustrating how different disciplines deal with urban vulnerability to and fear of crime 3 including concrete examples of issues and challenges found in European and North American cities and without being too extensive also in cities of the Global South

Green Design Paul Burall, 1991 Increasing concern for the environment and resulting legislation at national and international levels confront business and industry with both opportunities and threats Green Design provides an accessible introduction to the information available on environmentally safe technology The book demystifies the arguments for and against industrial and technological solutions analysing the central issues chapter by chapter and citing the failures and successes of manufacturers in addressing environmental problems A useful list of information sources on materials processes and legislation is included

Retail Change Rosemary D.F. Bromley, Colin J Thomas, 2002-11-01 The economic social and environmental implications of recent changes in retailing constitute significant contemporary issues which are the focus of this timely book Retail change deals with the internationalization of retailing the development of shopping centres in the city and at suburban sites and the growth of leisure shopping It provides an up to date review of the central questions faced by undergraduate students in planning business studies and geography The retail environment of developed economies has undergone revolutionary change since the 1970s and the process is far from over In the book the major elements central to contemporary retail change are developed across the whole spectrum of spatial scales relevant to present day society The first part adopts an economic perspective and focuses on the process of business concentration and its increasingly international orientation This is followed by analyses of change in the urban region concentrating on the emergence of the great variety of new retail forms associated with retail decentralization The planning implications of retail change are developed in the third part The future of the city centre and other traditional shopping centres is examined in the light of challenges presented by new facilities Alternative future scenarios contingent upon laissez faire or interventionist government policy controls are also discussed The social implications of retail change are developed in the final section All students and researchers concerned with the evolution and development of the retail sector of advanced economies will welcome this book as an authoritative source of contemporary findings and commentary Rosemary D Bromley and Colin J Thomas are Lecturers in Geography at the University College of Swansea Wales This book is intended for undergraduate students taking courses in economic geography and retailing in departments of geography business studies planning etc
