Critical Theory And Poststructuralism:

Critical Theory and Poststructuralism Mark Poster, 2019-05-15 In Critical Theory and Poststructuralism Mark Poster enacts a dialogue between the French poststructuralists especially Michel Foucault and the tradition of critical social theory as developed by the Frankfurt School and by other Continental theorists such as Jean Paul Sartre These confrontations between poststructuralists who represent postmodern thought and theorists committed to the modern project of the Enlightenment is according to Poster of urgent importance because of the failure of critical theory to sustain a convincing critique of today's radically changed social formation Critical Theory, Poststructuralism and the Social Context Michael A. Peters, 1996

Poststructuralism and Critical Theory's Second Generation Alan D. Schrift, 2014-09-11 Poststructuralism and Critical Theory's Second Generation analyses the major themes and developments in a period that brought continental philosophy to the forefront of scholarship in a variety of humanities and social science disciplines and that set the agenda for philosophical thought on the continent and elsewhere from the 1960s to the present Focusing on the years 1960-1984 the volume examines the major figures associated with poststructuralism and the second generation of critical theory the two dominant movements that emerged in the 1960s Althusser Foucault Deleuze Derrida Lyotard Irigaray and Habermas Influential thinkers such as Serres Bourdieu and Rorty who are not easily placed in standard histories of the period are also covered Beyond this thematic essays engage with issues as diverse as the Nietzschean legacy the linguistic turn in continental thinking the phenomenological inheritance of Gadamer and Ricoeur the influence of psychoanalysis the emergence of feminist thought and a philosophy of sexual difference the renewal of the critical theory tradition and the importation of continental philosophy into literary theory Logics of Disintegration Peter Dews, 2020-05-05 Over the last two decades contemporary French philosophy has exercised a powerful influence on intellectual life across both Europe and America Post structuralist strategies and concepts have played an important role in many forms of social cultural and aesthetic analysis particularly on the Left Despite the widespread reception however there has still been comparatively little analysis of the basic philosophical assumptions of post structuralism or of the compatibility of many of its central tenets with the progressive political orientations with which it is frequently associated In this book Peter Dews seeks to remedy this situation by setting post structuralist thought in relation to another more explicitly critical tradition in the philosophical analysis of modernity that of the Frankfurt School from Adorno to Habermas Logics of Disintegration will be of interest to readers across a wide range of disciplines from literary criticism to social theory which have felt the impact of post structuralism and to anyone who wishes to reach a balanced assessment of one of the most influential intellectual currents of our time

From the New Criticism to Deconstruction Art Berman, 1988 From the New Criticism to Deconstruction traces the transitions in American critical theory and practice from the 1950s to the 1980s It focuses on the influence of French structuralism and post structuralism on American deconstruction within a wide ranging context that includes literary Theory, Poststructuralism and 'Nietzsche's Paradox' Nektarios Kastrinakis, 2025-07-18 Critical Theory Poststructuralism and Nietzsche's Paradox addresses a fundamental question in the exchange between Critical Theory and Poststructuralism: is poststructuralism justified in its critique of dialectical thinking and in the conclusion of this critique that we need to leave dialectics behind us to properly understand the social world? When Deleuze's book Nietzsche and Philosophy was first published back in 1962 it caused a sensation in France and its Nietzschean critique of Hegelian dialectics played a pivotal role in the emergence of the current of thought we call poststructuralism. However, to what extent is this critique valid and justified? This question has never been adequately investigated. With this book Nektarios Kastrinakis attempts such an investigation through the exploration of the influence of Nietzsche in both Deleuze and Adorno. More specifically, he investigates a paradox in 20th-century philosophy: the paradox of Nietzsche. Nietzsche is claimed by Deleuze to be a fierce critic of Hegel's dialectics and by authors like Gillian Rose and Karin Bauer to be the originator of Adorno's negative dialectics. Kastrinakis argues that there are in fact at least two Nietzsches: one with an irrationalistic and one with a rationalistic critique of identity thinking on which both poststructuralism (Deleuze) and Critical Theory (Adorno) respectively lay a legitimate claim. He also enacts the missing in the literature debate between Adorno and Deleuze which concludes that Adorno's critique of identity thinking, his negative dialectics when modified to include an affirmative moment at its heart, unacknowledged by Adorno himself, can effectively challenge Deleuze's Nietzschean critique of dialectics. Critical Theory, Poststructuralism, and Nietzsche's Paradox intervenes in the boundary between political philosophy and philosophy and will be of interest to scholars of Nietzsche, Deleuze, Adorno, but also generally of poststructuralism and Critical Theory in these disciplines.

Postcultural Theory E. Bannet, 1993-04-20 The world of literary theory and criticism is once again at a crossroads. While much of the academy has been absorbing and institutionalizing that unstable mixture of poststructuralism, deconstruction, political critique, and materialist historicism which is known as Cultural Theory, some people have been working up alternative theories. This book is about some of these less familiar Postcultural theories and about the ways in which they challenge current thinking and open other positive and constructive possibilities for thought and research in the nineties.

Critical Resistance David Couzens Hoy, 2005-08-12 This book serves as both an introduction to the concept of resistance in poststructuralist thought and an original contribution to the continuing philosophical discussion of this topic How can a body of thought that mistrusts universal principles explain the possibility of critical resistance Without appeals to abstract norms how can emancipatory resistance be distinguished from domination Can there be a poststructuralist ethics David Hoy explores these crucial questions through lucid readings of Nietzsche Foucault Bourdieu Derrida and others He traces the genealogy of resistance from Nietzsche's break with the Cartesian concept of consciousness to Foucault's and Bourdieu's theories of how subjects are formed through embodied social practices. He also considers Levinas, Heidegger, and Derrida on the sources of ethical resistance. Finally, in light of current social theory from Judith Butler to Slavoj Žižek, he challenges poststructuralism as a category and suggests the term post-critique as a more accurate description of contemporary Continental philosophy. Hoy is a leading American scholar of poststructuralism. Critical Resistance is the only book in English that deals substantively with the topical concept of resistance in relation to poststructuralist thought discussions of which have dominated Continental social thought for many years. Critical Theory and Epistemology Anastasia Ch. Marinopoulou, 2017. This Critical Theory and Contemporary Society volume offers a critical review of epistemological issues in the twentieth and twenty-first centuries.

Handbook of Qualitative Research Methods in Marketing Russell W. Belk, 2006. A rare and much-needed compilation of some thought-provoking papers in the area of qualitative research in marketing. This book is a must-have for anyone pursuing the discipline of marketing research, scholars intent on the pursuit of qualitative inquiry, as well as practising professionals looking for innovative approaches to research. Global Business Review. Belk has compiled an exhaustive collection of contributions from scholars and practitioners throughout North America and Europe. This extremely informative volume spans the full array of qualitative research areas. Highly recommended. S. D. Clark, Choice. The Handbook of Qualitative Research Methods in Marketing offers both basic and advanced treatments intended to serve academics, students, and marketing research professionals. The 42 chapters begin with a history of qualitative methods in marketing by Sidney Levy and continue with detailed discussions of current thought and practice in research paradigms such as grounded theory and semiotics, research contexts such as advertising and brands, data collection methods such as projectives and netnography, data analysis methods such as metaphoric and visual analyses, presentation topics such as videography and reflexivity, applications such as ZMET applied to Broadway plays and depth interviews with executives, special issues such as multi-sited ethnography and research on sensitive topics. Authors include leading scholars and practitioners from North America and Europe. They draw on a wealth of experience using well-established as well as emerging qualitative research methods. The result is a thorough, timely, and useful Handbook that will educate, inspire, and serve as standard reference for marketing academics and practitioners alike.

In the Wake of Failed Revolution David Beran, 1998. In this dissertation, the topics of the Enlightenment, the failure of revolution, the critique of Enlightenment, and the sublimation of the political into the aesthetic are examined as they pertain to the historical developments of Romanticism, Critical Theory, and Post-Structuralism. Beginning with a discussion of Romanticism as it developed in its historical context and establishing this discussion as the paradigm for the subsequent discussions of Critical Theory and Post-Structuralism, this dissertation attempts to demonstrate that certain aspects of Critical Theory and Post-Structuralism, as they developed in their respective historical contexts, could be regarded as neo-Romantic. Early British Romanticism, as it developed in relationship to the failure of the French Revolution, is discussed in chapter one and then compared to Critical Theory as it developed in relationship to the failure of Communist revolution in chapter two and to Post Structuralism as it developed in relationship to the failure of the revolution of the 1960s in chapter three This dissertation attempts to provide a perspective from which some of the similarities and parallels between Romanticism Critical Theory and Post Structuralism in regard to the Enlightenment failed revolution aesthetic theory etc can be seen more clearly
