was not over Living in the booming American metropolis the Wilsons welcomed into their handsome home visitors from around the world as they worked for the rapidly expanding Protestant mission movement As the Civil War approached however they heard the siren voice of their Southern homeland calling from deep within their memories They sought to resist its seductions but the call became more insistent and finally irresistible In spite of their years of fighting slavery they gave themselves to a history and a people committed to maintaining slavery and its deep oppression both an act of deep love for a place and people and the desertion of a moral vision A sweeping transatlantic story of good intentions and bitter consequences By the Rivers of Water reveals two distant worlds linked by deep faiths      Lectures on the beautiful and sublime in nature and in morals George Mather (Wesleyan minister.),1874
