Sustainable Energy Namir Khan,Willem H. Vanderburg,2001 This annotated bibliography introduces readers to preventive approaches for making the energy requirements of modern ways of life more sustainable Since a society can neither create nor destroy energy all energy is temporarily borrowed from the biosphere and returned to it in degraded form The activities of a way of life of a society that involve energy flows may be represented as a network for which the biosphere acts as the ultimate source and sink This network and therefore the energy basis for a modern life style will be sustainable when the biosphere can perform these roles indefinitely The present bibliography regards the preventive approaches related to energy as a capital component of preventive approaches for improving the sustainability of contemporary civilization This book as well as the two companion volumes Sustainable Production and Healthy Cities is the result of a twelve year research project carried out at the Center for Technology and Social Development at the University of Toronto The research findings led to the development of a new conceptual framework and strategy aimed at converting technological and economic growth into development that would gradually become more sustainable Uniform Trade List Annual ,1989 City-Region 2020 Joe Ravetz,2016-05-13 Based on analysis of the Manchester city region this book offers a vision of a sustainable urban future through integrated strategic management of the entire city region It translates principles into practice for achieving the necessary balance to ensure a higher standard of living and safe environment The text presents a 25 year horizon for the evolution and restructuring of the urban system a focus for linkages and synergies between economic social and environmental sectors technical scenarios for land use energy and material flows spatial scenarios for each area and settlement type and lateral thinking on cultural information localization and globalization trends Also included are practical actions methods and tools such as sustainability indicators and appraisals that can be applied anywhere in the western world

Cochran, 1984 Chaos at the Crossroads Frank McDonald, James Nix, 2005 Chaos at the Crossroads is a catalogue of the sloppy thinking political chicanery bureaucratic incompetence and pandering to vested interests that characterise so much of what is happening in Ireland today It charts how the country is being wrecked by half based policies that fail and are known to fail Whether it s urban generated housing in rural areas the relentless sprawl of our cities the madness of the motorway programme the scatter gun approach to decentralisation the contempt for our heritage or the failure to observe our international obligations to combat climate change the Government has made a mess of it Evidence that would underpin sensible decisions is either blithely ignored or never gathered in the first place There is an alternative but the lack of political leadership has thwarted its adoption to date It s the idea of closely knit cities with Galway Limerick Cork and Waterford working together to counterbalance Dublin This book also puts forward proposals on how to make urban life work better how to get around cities and travel between them It gives a warning of what is likely to happen if the current blase to hell with the next generation approach is allowed to prevail chaos BOOK JACKET Planning ,2007
