Women and Photography in Africa Darren Newbury, Lorena Rizzo, Kylie Thomas, 2020-10-26 This collection explores women's multifaceted historical and contemporary involvement in photography in Africa The book offers new ways of thinking about the history of photography exploring through case studies the complex and historically specific articulations of gender and photography on the continent and attending to the challenge and potential of contemporary feminist and postcolonial engagements with the medium The volume is organised in thematic sections that present the lives and work of historically significant yet overlooked women photographers as well as the work of acclaimed contemporary African women photographers such as H la Ammar Fatoumata Diabat Lebohng Kganye and Zanele Muholi The book offers critical reflections on the politics of gendered knowledge production and the production of racialised and gendered identities and alternative and subaltern subjectivities Several chapters illuminate how contemporary African women photographers collectors and curators are engaging with colonial photographic archives to contest stereotypical forms of representation and produce powerful counter histories Raising critical questions about race gender and the history of photography the collection provides a model for interdisciplinary feminist approaches for scholars and students of art history visual studies and African history

Photos from the Oakland Photo Vault John Archer, 2025-08-26 Navigating the African Diaspora Donald Martin Carter, 2010 Investigating how the fraught political economy of migration impacts people around the world Donald Martin Carter raises important issues about contemporary African diasporic movements Developing the notion of the anthropology of invisibility he explores the trope of navigation in social theory intent on understanding the lived experiences of transnational migrants Carter examines invisibility in its various forms from social rejection and residential segregation to war memorials and the inability of some groups to represent themselves through popular culture scholarship or art The pervasiveness of invisibility is not limited to symbolic actions Carter shows but may have dramatic and at times catastrophic consequences for people subjected to its force The geographic span of his analysis is global encompassing Senegalese Muslims in Italy and the United States and concluding with practical questions about the future of European societies Carter also considers both contemporary and historical constellations of displacement from Darfurian refugees to French West

African colonial soldiers Whether focusing on historical photographs television print media and graffiti scrawled across urban walls or identifying the critique of colonialism implicit in African films and literature Carter reveals a protean and peopled world in motion

Reflections in Black Deborah Willis,2002 Shows that the history of black photographers intertwines with the story of African American life as seen through photographs ranging from antebellum weddings and 1960s protest marches to portraits of contemporary black celebrities The Journal of American Folk-lore ,2008 Catalogue of Pictures and Other Works of Art in the National Gallery and the National Portrait Gallery, Ireland ...
