Cuvier Geoffrey Debate French Biology In The Decades Before Darwin:

The Cuvier-Geoffrey Debate Toby A. Appel, 1987-03-26 For scientists no event better represents the contest between form and function as the chief organizing principle of life as the debate between Georges Cuvier and Etienne Geoffroy Saint Hilaire This book presents the first comprehensive study of the celebrated French scientific controversy that focused the attention of naturalists in the first decades of the nineteenth century on the conflicting claims of teleology morphology and evolution which ultimately contributed to the making of Darwin s theory This history describes not only the scientific dimensions of the controversy and its impact on individuals and institutions but also examines the meaning of the debate for culture and society in the years before Darwin Encyclopedia of the Romantic Era, 1760-1850 Christopher John Murray, 2013-05-13 In 850 analytical articles this two volume set explores the developments that influenced the profound changes in thought and sensibility during the second half of the eighteenth century and the first half of the nineteenth century The Encyclopedia provides readers with a clear detailed and accurate reference source on the literature thought music and art of the period demonstrating the rich interplay of international influences and cross currents at work and to explore the many issues raised by the very concepts of Romantic and Romanticism Darwin's Ghosts Rebecca Stott, 2012 Citing an 1859 letter that accused Charles Darwin of failing to acknowledge his scientific predecessors a chronicle of the collective history of evolution dedicates each chapter to an evolutionary thinker from Aristotle and da Vinci to Denis Diderot to the naturalists of the Jardin de Plantes 20 000 first printing History, Religion, and Culture Stefan Collini, Richard Whatmore, Brian Young, 2000-05-01 Modern British intellectual history has been a particularly flourishing field of enquiry in recent years and these two tightly integrated volumes contain major new essays by almost all of its leading proponents The contributors examine the history of British ideas over the past two centuries from a number of perspectives that together constitute a major new overview of the subject History Religion and Culture begins with eighteenth century historiography especially Gibbon s Decline and Fall It takes up different aspects of the place of religion in nineteenth century cultural and political life such as attitudes towards the native religions of India the Victorian perception of Oliver Cromwell and the religious sensibility of John Ruskin Finally in discussions which range up to the middle of the twentieth century the volume explores relations between scientific ideas about change or development and assumptions about the nature and growth of the national community Nature, the Exotic, and the Science of French Colonialism Michael A. Osborne, 1994 The colonization of Algeria in the nineteenth century was premised on the belief that Europeans as well as non indigenous animals and plants could acclimatize to life in North Africa While traditional French science showed little interest in such practical matters as attempting to adapt exotic plants and animals to new environments support came from the Societe zoologique d acclimatation the French Sierra Club whose story is the subject of this book Because its work was politically useful in support of France s colonial ambitions in Algeria and elsewhere the Society found favor with Napoleon III s government and its influence was soon widespread For example the Society fostered the creation of nature preserves in Africa and zoos in Paris and its ideas changed the research agendas of pure science as well In this major study of how the acquisition of empire affected French science Michael A Osborne treats in turn the founding of the Society and its evolution to 1920 its monument to Napoleon III s modern Paris the Jardin zoologique d acclimatation the Society s core scientific ideology of Lamarckian transformation the history of provincial acclimatization societies in Nancy and Grenoble and the Society s activities in the colonies of the new French empire An important study of the patronage and politics of science this book offers new insights for students of environmentalism science history and policy and modern European history

Biology and Ideology from Descartes to Dawkins Denis R. Alexander,Ronald L. Numbers,2010-05-15 Over the course of human history the sciences and biology in particular have often been manipulated to cause immense human suffering By investigating the past this book features contributors who hope to better prepare us to discern ideological abuse of science when it occurs in the future

French Literature, Thought and Culture in the Nineteenth Century Brian Rigby,1993 This volume adopts a varied approach to the study of the material world in the French literature thought and visual arts of the 19th century Contributors look not only at the Romantic and Realist transcendence of the Neo classical heritage of abstraction and idealism but also adopt modern critical perspectives to analyse central themes such as urbanisation fetishism and the representation of the female body

Evolution Douglas Emlen,Carl Zimmer,2025-09-25 Explore how evolution shapes life from viruses to ecosystems with Emlen and Zimmer s engaging fourth edition of Evolution Making Sense of Life complete with updated examples and digital tools to support your learning

History and Philosophy of the Life Sciences ,2005 Eugène Delacroix and the Pictorial Invention of Orientalism Thomas J. O'Brien,1998 Homology Novartis Foundation,1999-05-21 Homology as a concept became increasingly elusive during the course of the 20th century The central debates and controversies concern both fundamental definitions and the nature of the criteria by which homology is judged Attempts to move away from comparative morphology to ideas based on developmental pathways have tended to founder on the fact that developmental pathways evolve and that similar cells or tissues or structures in animals will often have different developmental origins The use of information about conserved molecules in seemingly conserved developmental processes has also proven controversial In molecular biology the use of the term homology has given rise to more debate although here the issue seems to involve primarily the criteria for assessing whether parts of genes are the same because of shared descent or for other reasons The contributions to the book explore these topics systematically There are chapters on the historical development of the concept of homology and its use in population studies Other chapters deal with issues of homology in morphological and developmental studies in behavioural studies and especially in studies at the level of molecular genetics

Foreign Bodies Bronwen Douglas,Chris Ballard,2008 The collection investigates the reciprocal significance of Oceania for the science of race and of racial thinking for Oceania during the two centuries after 1750 giving Oceania a broad definition that encompasses the Pacific Islands Australia New Guinea New Zealand and the Malay Archipelago We aim to denaturalize the modernist scientific concept of race by means of a dual historical strategy tracking the emergence of the concept in western Europe at the end of the eighteenth century its subsequent normalization and its practical deployment in Oceanic contexts and exposing the tensions inconsistencies and instability of rival discourses Under the broad rubrics of dereifying race and decentring Europe these essays make several distinctive and innovative contributions First they locate the formulation of particular racial theories and the science of race generally at the intersections of metropolitan biology or anthropology and encounters in the field a relatively recent strategy in the history of ideas We neither dematerialize ideas as purely abstract and discursive nor reduce them to social relations and politics but ground them personally and circumstantially in embodied human interactions Provided by publisher
