Cyclic Sedimentation of the Lansing-Kansas City Groups in Northwestern Kansas and Southwestern Nebraska W. Lynn Watney, 1980 Describes the stratigraphy and sedimentation of the Lansing Kansas City section in a portion of northwestern Kansas and southwestern Nebraska emphasizing the distribution and predictability of hydrocarbon reservoirs occurring in the carbonate rocks of this interval Cyclic Sedimentation of the Lansing - Kansas City Groups in Northwestern Kansas and Southeastern Nebraska - a Guide for Petroleum Exploration Kansas Geological Survey, W. Petroleum Reservoirs P.O. Roehl, P.W. Choquette, 2012-12-06 The case history approach has an impressive record of success in a variety of disciplines Collections of case histories casebooks are now widely used in all sorts of specialties other than in their familiar application to law and medicine The case method had its formal beginning at Harvard in 1871 when Christopher Lagdell developed it as a means of teaching It was so successful in teaching law that it was soon adopted in medical education and the collection of cases provided the raw material for research on various diseases Subsequently the case history approach spread to such varied fields as business psychology management and economics and there are over 100 books in print that use this approach The idea for a series of Casebooks in Earth Sciences grew from my experience in organizing and editing a collection of examples of one variety of sedimentary deposits The project began as an effort to bring some order to a large number of descriptions of these deposits that were so varied in presentation and terminology that even specialists found them difficult to compare and analyze Thus from the beginning it was evident that something more than a simple collection of papers was needed Accordingly the nearly fifty contributors worked together with George de Vries Klein and me to establish a standard format for presenting the case histories North-Central Section of the Geological Permo-carboniferous Carbonate Platforms and Reefs Wayne M. Ahr, 2003 The bromide nothing is constant but change could have been coined to describe the geological history of the Permo Carboniferous the Mississippian Pennsylvanian and Permian Periods Global tectonics fluctuations in atmospheric and oceanic chemistry changes in global climate and evolutionary changes in survivors of mass extinctions created the backdrop for the shifting panorama of the remarkable time in earth history Catastrophic extinctions during the Frasnian Famennian crisis decimated the global plant and animal populations leaving survivors to initially struggle through the Devonian Carboniferous transition The ensuing evolutionary diversification into less populated niches was brought to an abrupt end at the close of the Permian Period by the largest of all mass extinctions Upheavals in plate motion change the configuration of continents and oceans during this time Within the evolving Permo Carboniferous landscape a wide diversity of carbonate platforms and reefs flourished They ranged in size from small mounds to mega platforms some of which are important mineral and petroleum reservoirs It is the diversity which Permo Carboniferous rocks offer that has led to their intensive study by researchers from industry and academia around the globe This book stems mostly from presentations given at the SEPM and IAS sponsored research conference Permo Carboniferous Carbonate Platforms and Reefs held May 12 19 2000 in El Paso Texas Bulletin Kansas Geological Survey,1991 Subsurface Geology Series Kansas Geological Survey,1974 Upper Pennsylvanian (Virgilian and Missourian) Cyclothem in the Lawrence, Kansas Area W.
