The Films of D. W.

Griffith Scott Simmon,1993-07-30 An introduction to the work of the first widely acknowledged master filmmaker D.W. Griffith and the Origins of American Narrative Film Tom Gunning,1994 The legendary filmmaker D W Griffith directed nearly 200 films during 1908 and 1909 his first years with the Biograph Company While those one reel films are a testament to Griffith s inspired genius as a director they also reflect a fundamental shift in film style from cheap amusements to movie storytelling complete with characters and narrative impetus In this comprehensive historical investigation drawing on films preserved by the Library of Congress and the Museum of Modern Art Tom Gunning reveals that the remarkable cinematic changes between 1900 and 1915 were a response to the radical reorganization within the film industry and the evolving role of film in American society The Motion Picture Patents Company the newly formed Film Trust had major economic aspirations The newly emerging industry s quest for a middle class audience triggered Griffith s early experiments in film editing and imagery His unique solutions permanently shaped American narrative film Working-Class Hollywood Steven J. Ross,2020-06-30 This path breaking book reveals how Hollywood became Hollywood and what that meant for the politics of America and American film Working Class Hollywood tells the story of filmmaking in the first three decades of the twentieth century a time when going to the movies could transform lives and when the cinema was a battleground for control of American consciousness Steven Ross documents the rise of a working class film movement that challenged the dominant political ideas of the day Between 1907 and 1930 worker filmmakers repeatedly clashed with censors movie industry leaders and federal agencies over the kinds of images and subjects audiences would be allowed to see The outcome of these battles was critical to our own times for the victors got to shape the meaning of class in twentieth century America Surveying several hundred movies made by or about working men and women Ross shows how filmmakers were far more concerned with class conflict during the silent era than at any subsequent time Directors like Charlie Chaplin D W Griffith and William de Mille made movies that defended working people and chastised their enemies Worker filmmakers went a step further and produced movies from A Martyr to His Cause 1911 to The Gastonia Textile Strike 1929 that depicted a unified working class using strikes unions and socialism to transform a nation J Edgar Hoover considered these class conscious productions so dangerous that he assigned secret agents to spy on worker filmmakers Liberal and radical films declined in the 1920s as an emerging Hollywood studio system pressured by censors and Wall Street investors pushed American film in increasingly conservative directions Appealing to people s dreams of luxury and upward mobility studios produced lavish fantasy films that shifted popular attention away from the problems of the workplace and toward the pleasures of the new consumer society While worker filmmakers were trying to heighten class consciousness Hollywood producers were suggesting that class no longer mattered Working Class Hollywood shows how silent films helped shape the modern belief that we are a classless nation The Griffith Project, Volume 10 Paolo Cherchi Usai,2019-07-25 No other silent film director has been so extensively studied as D W Griffith However only a small group of his more than five hundred films had been the subject of
