Conversion Of The Jews:

The Conversion of the Jews: a Series of Lectures Delivered in Edinburgh, by Ministers of the Church of Scotland Jews, 1842     Bastards and Believers Theodor Dunkelgrün, Paweł Maciejko, 2020-03-06 A formidable collection of studies on religious conversion and converts in Jewish history Theodor Dunkelgrün and Paweł Maciejko observe that the term conversion is profoundly polysemous It can refer to Jews who turn to religions other than Judaism and non Jews who tie their fates to that of Jewish people It can be used to talk about Christians becoming Muslim or vice versa Christians born again or premodern efforts to Christianize or Islamize indigenous populations of Asia Africa and the Americas It can even describe how modern secular people discover spiritual creeds and join religious communities Viewing Jewish history from the perspective of conversion across a broad chronological and conceptual frame Bastards and Believers highlights how the concepts of the convert and of conversion have histories of their own The volume begins with Sara Japhet's study of conversion in the Hebrew Bible and ends with Netanel Fisher's essay on conversion to Judaism in contemporary Israel In between Andrew S Jacobs writes about the allure of becoming an other in late Antiquity Ephraim Kanarfogel considers Rabbinic attitudes and approaches toward conversion to Judaism in the Middle Ages and Paola Tartakoff ponders the relationship between conversion and poverty in medieval Iberia Three case studies by Javier Castaño Claude Stuczynski and Anne Oravetz Albert focus on different aspects of the experience of Spanish Portuguese conversos Michela Andreatta and Sarah Gracombe discuss conversion narratives and Elliott Horowitz and Ellie Shinker analyze Eastern European converts encounters with missionaries of different persuasions Despite the differences between periods contexts and sources two fundamental and mutually exclusive notions of human life thread the essays together the conviction that one can choose one's destiny and the conviction that one cannot escape one's past The history of converts presented by Bastards and Believers speaks to the possibility or impossibility of changing one's life Contributors Michela Andreatta Javier Castaño Theodor Dunkelgrün Netanel Fisher Sarah Gracombe Elliott Horowitz Andrew S Jacobs Sara Japhet Ephraim Kanarfogel Paweł Maciejko Anne Oravetz Albert Ellie Shinker Claude Stuczynski Paola Tartakoff     Lectures on the Conversion of the Jews British Society for the Propagation of the Gospel Among the Jews, 1843     Attempts for the Instruction and Conversion of the Jews London Society for Promoting Christianity amongst the Jews, 1827     Attempts for the Instruction and Conversion of the Jews Seriously Recommended to the Attention of Christians Jews, 1831     Judah and Israel Joseph Samuel Christian Frederick Frey, 1840     The Conversion of the Jews Ebenezer Henderson, 1840     Converts to Judaism Lawrence J. Shoulson,2013-03-21 The fraught history of England's Long Reformation is a convoluted if familiar story in the space of twenty five years England changed religious identity three times In 1534 England broke from the papacy with the Act of Supremacy that made Henry VIII head of the church nineteen years later the act was overturned by his daughter Mary only to be reinstated at the ascension of her half sister Elizabeth. Buffeted by political and confessional cross currents the English discovered that conversion was by no means a finite discrete process. In Fictions of Conversion Jeffrey S Shoulson argues that the vagaries of religious conversion were more readily negotiated when they were projected onto an alien identity one of which the potential for transformation offered both promise and peril but which could be kept distinct from the emerging identity of Englishness: the Jew. Early modern Englishmen and women would have recognized an uncannily familiar religious chameleon in the figure of the Jewish converso whose economic social and political circumstances required religious conversion conformity or counterfeiting. Shoulson explores this distinctly English interest in the Jews who had been exiled from their midst nearly three hundred years earlier contending that while Jews held out the tantalizing possibility of redemption through conversion the trajectory of falling in and out of divine favor could be seen to anticipate the more recent trajectory of England's uncertain path of reformation. In translations such as the King James Bible and Chapman's Homer dramas by Marlowe Shakespeare and Jonson and poetry by Donne Vaughan and Milton conversion appears as a cypher for and catalyst of other transformations translation alchemy and the suspect religious enthusiasm of the convert that preoccupy early modern English cultures of change.
