Cooks Sites Revisiting History:

Science, Empire and the European Exploration of the Pacific Tony Ballantyne, 2018-10-24 This collection of essays assesses the interrelationship between exploration empire building and science in the opening up of the Pacific Ocean by Europeans between the early 16th and mid 19th century It explores both the role of various sciences in enabling European imperial projects in the region and how the exploration of the Pacific in turn shaped emergent scientific disciplines and their claims to authority within Europe Drawing on a range of disciplines from the history of science to geography imperial history to literary criticism this volume examines the place of science in cross cultural encounters the history of cartography in Oceania shifting understandings of race and cultural difference in the Pacific and the place of ships books and instruments in the culture of science It reveals the exchanges and networks that connected British French Spanish and Russian scientific traditions even in the midst of imperial competition and the ways in which findings in diverse fields from cartography to zoology botany to anthropology were disseminated and crafted into an increasingly coherent image of the Pacific its resources peoples and histories This is a significant body of scholarship that offers many important insights for anthropologists and geographers as well as for historians of science and European imperialism Photography, Ecology and Historical Change in the Anthropocene Bergit Arends, 2024-07-09 Moving beyond existing scholarship this book connects photography archives ecology and historical change and critically applies the Anthropocene as framework to the in depth study of artists projects It discards single modes of seeing environmental transformations in favour of a multiple and de centred environmental imagination Bergit Arends uses multidisciplinary perspectives to view localized environmental social and political issues through research based artistic practices The book not only makes available original research into newly and recently discovered archives of ecological and historical change but also shows how this research is manifest in exhibition formats This book presents international transhistorical projects by contemporary visual artists who use archives together with photography as documentary and performative media for the comparative study of environments and places A wide array of artists from diverse backgrounds working primarily in Europe and North America from the 1970s to the present day are discussed and set in relation to Anthropocene narratives Case studies include environmental archive based work by Nguyen the Thuc Christiane Eisler Chrystel Lebas Mark Dion Joy Gregory and Philip Miller The book will be of interest to scholars working in photography archive studies art history visual culture environmental humanities and ecocriticism The Death of Captain Cook Glyndwr Williams, 2008 In a style that is more detective story than conventional biography Williams explores the multiple narratives of Cook s death In short Williams examines the story of Cook s progress from obscurity to fame and eventually to infamy a story that until now has never been fully told The New Zealand Journal of History ,2002 Digital Games as History Adam Chapman, 2016-05-05 This book provides the first in depth exploration of video games as history Chapman puts forth five basic categories of analysis for understanding historical video games simulation and epistemology time space narrative and affordance Through these methods of analysis he explores what these games uniquely offer as a new form of history and how they produce representations of the past By taking an inter disciplinary and accessible approach the book provides a specific and firm first foundation upon which to build further examination of the potential of video games as a historical form Mediating Modernisms Ruth B.

Phillips,Norman Vorano,2025-08-29 Mediating Modernisms explores the fertile exchanges between Indigenous artists living in colonial societies and the mid twentieth mediators who carried ideas of aesthetic modernism and modernist primitivism into these worlds Artmaking in the Age of Global Capitalism Bryant Jan Bryant,2019-09-11 Jan Bryant looks at the strategies visual artists and filmmakers are using to criticise the social and economic conditions shaping our historical moment She then assesses how the world is being positively re imagined through their work today Located at the intersection of practice and theory Bryant argues that an effective contemporary political aesthetics encompasses more than just analysis of a work s conceptual or aesthetic reality It should also consider the impact the artwork has at the point of reception the methods adopted by the artists and the relationships they engender with communities Writing Arctic

Disaster Adriana Craciun,2016-03-10 This fascinating study examines how Victorian fixation on disastrous Northwest Passage expeditions has conditioned our understanding of the Arctic and Polar exploration Cook's Sites Mark

Adams,Nicholas Thomas,1999 Photographer Mark Adams and writer Nicholas Thomas revisit the sites of contact between Cook s crews in Dusky Sound and Queen Charlotte Sound as well as places in Europe where botanical specimens indigenous artefacts and the voyagers documents ended up They examine the traces of the past opening up ambiguities and avoiding easy judgements about these early meetings The volume is extensively illustrated with black and white photographs
