  Community Development as a Process ,1983   Community Development Hayden Roberts,1979-12-15 Community development is often shaped by purely economic and political considerations but it can also function as a process of education that expresses the perceptions of people and enhances their control of their society Drawing on his experiences of economic models of development in Africa and Canada Hayden Roberts design a practice theory of development that emerges from and responds to the needs of the community itself His analysis emphasizes the political nature of the process and the central role of adult education in achieving the goals of a given community His theory in brief is that affected people are more capable than outsider of perceiving and assessing the conditions of their lives and that with appropriate inspiration and guidance they can plan and act to change these conditions for the better Theories of learning communication intergroup and interpersonal behaviour organization economic development and political change are all utilized towards the formulation of a comprehensive theory and practical approach to community development planning Roberts advances a people oriented approach to development that draws its models from various disciplines and takes into account the local social economic and material needs of the community as well as the native abilities of the people concerned His conclusions are equally relevant to third world societies and to minority groups or sub cultures in industrialized societies and they are presented with remarkable clarity and consciousness He sifts through a maze of theories and emerges with a plausible theory of community development that is backed a every stage by the lessons of practical experience The broadly based and humane work will interest all concerned with the process of community development from planning to action   Community Development Danesh A.
