Digital Asset Management for Museums Margaret C. McKee, Jessica Herczeg-Konecny, 2025-10-02 Our cultural heritage institutions live today in a world that persistently blends the alternating currents of the known and touchable world with an immediate and intimate digital unfolding with shapes and intentions beyond what we can know These digital twins may start as just that twins but often quickly become different A scan of a sculpture can be used for research to deepen a visitor's sight of what's underneath become a model for a licensed derivative destined for the gift shop or help curators plan an exhibition Our museum holdings throughout the world require careful management from access to storage to conservation and they create the wonder we experience in the hands of gifted museum staff Our museums digital assets demand the same level of attention concern legacy preservation as they embrace our minds and infuse experience from the invisible reach of ones and zeroes made manifest and all around us This is the realization at the core of Digital Asset Management for Museums The chapters in this book will guide readers through strategies for unlocking an asset's potential implementing digital assets into cultural institutions successfully managing potential failures in implementation and training museum staff to utilize digital assets effectively Digital asset management strategies consider the ever evolving nature of technology which makes this book's approach relevant to the needs of cultural institutions today as well as to institutions needs for the future

Development of Airfreight Hubs in the Greater Pearl River Delta Jana Schebera, 2006-06-26 Inhaltsangabe Abstract Everything has beauty but not everyone sees it goes a famous saying by Confucius My wish in writing this paper is to convince readers of the peculiar beauty and importance of the highly dynamic aviation landscape of the southern Chinese Pearl River Delta Airfreight is an essential and highly sophisticated part of an economy's logistics infrastructure A functioning infrastructure is vital for the development of an economy in particular for its international trade As trade is a key component in China's economic success formula demand for an efficient infrastructure is high Air transportation has become one of the most effective tools to explore and serve world markets In today's highly competitive business world just in time delivery and good customer service are absolutely crucial

The overall trend towards fast reliable delivery and the transformation of China's economy along with the value chain of production have boosted demand for air transportation. Due to these developments the air cargo market which is still at low levels particularly in domestic transportation is one of the fastest growing markets in China. The regional focus of this study is on the economic powerhouse of China the Pearl River Delta PRD located in the southern province of Guangdong. Everyone who knows the highly industrialised landscape of the PRD would probably agree that the region's nickname factory of the world is more than appropriate. The PRD has the highest per capita output in China and generates about one third of national exports. The Greater Pearl River Delta GPRD consists of the PRD and the Special Administrative Zones Hong Kong and Macao. In many respects it is one of the most interesting economic entities of the world. Economy and infrastructure are integrated on a very high level. The GPRD features many extremes its strong economic power its rapid growth that has been the highest in China for many years its population density and last but not least its aviation landscape. Within radial distance of about 100 km five international airports are at service creating the highest airport density in the world. Three of these airports are among China's top five airports. The clear leader among them is Hong Kong International Airport HKIA which has established itself as a major hub in Asia and has been the airport with the highest international air cargo throughput of the world for many years.
