Abebment In Psychotherapy:

Psychotherapy and the Self-contained Patient E. Mark Stern, 1989 Leading psychotherapists present a broad range of theoretical philosophical and clinical perspectives on the self contained person who seeks therapy With numerous enlightening case studies they explore the characteristics of the self contained patient often a bright dedicated hardworking and successful person who has decided to be self reliant and to achieve without needing or acknowledging help The experts also examine the provocations leading self contained persons to seek therapy This authoritative volume addresses the intricacies of working with the self contained person who is often competitive and ill at ease with experts and proposes successful interventions for treating the ever challenging and provocative self contained patient The Humanity of Therapists Francis Martin, 2025-12-11 Many therapists readily recognize their challenges Among many that could be named some are common including the suicidal client deflated and failed parents the enraged substance abuser the victimized child the borderline client and the defiant and identity confused adolescent Practicing therapists could readily add numerous other challenges No matter which therapists compose the list of challenges they also recognize that their respective lists evoke the demands of managing their humanity The plain reality is that the humanity of therapists and their clients pose immense challenges for therapists At least they understand that their humanity in their clinical work compels them to cope with the multi layered ambiguities that attend their humanity They must be energized even when they are tired They must think clinically even when they are sexually frustrated They must conscientiously attend to the needs of their clients even when their spouse is medically compromised They must show appropriate confidence in the services they deliver even when they harbor potentially crippling doubts These things and more characterize the humanity of therapists as they live their professional and personal lives The Elizabethan Clergy and the Settlement of Religion 1558-1564 Henry Gee B.D., F.S.A., 1898
