Aboriginal Writing Today Jack Davis, Robert Ian Vere Hodge, 1985 Papers by R M Berndt J Davis C Johnson K Gilbert B McGuinness and D Walker F Bandler G Bostock C Watego and C Berndt separately annotated Aboriginal Writing Today, 1985 Australian Cultural Studies John Frow, Meaghan Morris, 1993 Cultural studies has emerged as a major force in the analysis of cultural systems and their relation to social power Rather than being interested in television or architecture or pinball machines themselves as industrial or aesthetic structures cultural studies tends to be interested in the way such apparatuses work as points of concentration of social meaning as media literally according to John Frow and Meaghan Morris Here two of Australia's leading cultural critics bring together work that represents a distinctive national tradition moving between high theory and detailed readings of localized cultural practices Ethnographic audience research cultural policy studies popular consumption bad aboriginal art landscape in feature films style form and history in TV miniseries and the intersections of tourism with history and memory these are among the topics addressed in a landmark volume that cuts across myriad traditional disciplines Dancing in Shadows Anna Haebich, 2018 Dancing in Shadows explores the power of Indigenous performance pitted against the forces of settler colonisation Historian Anna Haebich documents how the Nyungar people of Western Australia strategically and courageously adapted their rich performance culture to survive the catastrophe that engulfed them and continue to generously share their culture history and language in theatre In public corroborees they performed their sovereignty to the colonists and in community only gatherings they danced and sang to bring forth resilience and spiritual healing Pushed away by the colonists and denied their culture and lands they continued to live and perform in the shadows over the years in combinations of the old and the new including indigenised settler songs and dances Nyungar people survived and they now number around 40 000 people and constitute the largest Aboriginal nation in the Australian settler state The ancient family lineages live in city suburbs and country towns and they continue to perform to celebrate their ancestors and to strengthen community well being by being together Dancing in Shadows sheds light on the little known history of Nyungar performance Subject Theatre Studies Sociology History Australian History Aboriginal Studies Indigenous Literature of Oceania Nicholas J. Goetzfridt, 1995-02-28 Oceania has a rich and growing literary tradition The imaginative literature that emerged in the 1960s often reflected the forms and structures of European literature though the ideas expressed were typically anticolonial After three decades the literature of Oceania has become much more complex in terms of style as well as content and authors write in a multiplicity of styles and voices While the written literature of Oceania is continuously gaining more critical attention questions about the imposition of European literary standards and values as a further extension of colonialism in the Pacific have become a central issue This book is a detailed survey of the expanding amount of critical and interpretive material written about the imaginative literature of authors from Oceania It focuses on commentary and scholarship concerned with the poetry fiction and drama written in

English by indigenous peoples of the Pacific Islands New Zealand and Australia The criticisms have appeared in academic books and journals since the mid 1960s They have developed to the point at which critical issues related to decolonization and the expression of ideas without having to first satisfy foreign expectations often determine the direction of such discussions Entries are grouped in topical chapters and each entry includes an extensive annotation An introductory essay summarizes the evolution of Pacific literature Australian Metatheatre on Page and Stage Rebecca Clode, 2022-06-09 This book offers the first major discussion of metatheatre in Australian drama of the late twentieth and early twenty first centuries It highlights metatheatre s capacity to illuminate the wider social cultural and artistic contexts in which plays have been produced Drawing from existing scholarly arguments about the value of considering metatheatre holistically this book deploys a range of critical approaches combining textual and production analysis archival research interviews and reflections gained from observing rehearsals Focusing on four plays and their Australian productions the book uses these examples to showcase how metatheatre has been utilised to generate powerful elements of critique particularly of Indigenous non Indigenous relations It highlights metatheatre s vital place in Australian dramatic and theatrical history and connects this Australian tradition to wider concepts in the development of contemporary theatre This illuminating text will be of interest to students and scholars of Australian theatre historic and contemporary as well as those researching and studying drama and theatre studies more broadly "Return" in Post-colonial Writing Vera Mihailovich-Dickman, 1994 For writers and academics prominent in the field of the New Literatures in English today the notion of return explodes into rich semantic difference to reveal the diversity of preoccupations underlying the use of the common tongue From the Caribbean to Australia Guyana to South Africa India to Great Britain literary political and personal history collaborate in the poetic metamorphosis of an otherwise everyday experience Now a state of being now a reading rich with cross cultural age return draws from the collective memory invokes revenants digs up forgotten history quests for roots Just as it creates a dialogue with the past textual or real it negotiates turning points and perpetuates reversals It reclaims territory tradition and language in its yearning for home Fraught with the tensions arising from awareness of the impossibility of return from the exhilarations of imaginary fictional return even from the glimmering hope of a possible return its contemplation can also lead to appreciation of the infinite re turn re newal and re creation that is the beauty of human experience Discussion ranges from revenant supernaturalism in West Indian literature and the exploration of return in Australian African and Indo Anglian fiction to Caribbean poetry South African praise poets and West African drama Writers treated include Ama Ata Aidoo Edward Kamau Brathwaite Jean D Costa Bessie Head Matsemela Manaka Salman Rushdie Derek Walcott and Patrick White The personal biographical dimension of physical return is encompassed via the examination of the life and works of such writers as Es kia Mphahlele and Wole Soyinka and through autobiographical reflections The essays stories and poetry in this collection challenge patterns of conditioned reading and call for a multilayered polylogue with reality Creating Frames

Maryrose Casey, 2004 Creating Frames traces the journey behind a substantial national body of work and its importance in ensuring that Indigenous Voices are heard. Creating Frames provides the first significant social and cultural history of Indigenous theatre across Australia. As well as using archival sources and national and independent theatre company records, much of this history is drawn from interviews with individuals who have shaped contemporary Indigenous theatre in Australia, including Bob Maza, Jack Charles, Gary Foley, Justine Saunders, Wesley Enoch, Ningali, and John Harding. A Subject Index to Current Literature, Australian Public Affairs Information Service, Aboriginal History, 2006. World Literature Today, 1990. Australian Studies Now, Andrew Hassam, Amit Sarwal, 2007. Australian Studies Now introduces to an Indian readership many of the best scholars writing on Australia today. Each essay engages with key debates relating to the society and culture of contemporary Australia and through analysis of Australia's literature and history as well as its cinema, theater, education, sports, and its many religions. Australian Studies Now provides insight into such major topics as Australian nationalism, multiculturalism, and Aboriginal Australia. Special attention is paid to Australia's relationship with India, begins with a section on Australian Studies in India. Australian Studies Now will be of interest to those studying and teaching about Australia as well as those with the intellectual curiosity to know more about India's cricketing rival and trading partner. Down Under, A.U.M.L.A., 2003. Indigenous Literature of Australia, Mudrooroo, Mudrooroo Narogin, 1997. Here is a wide-ranging critical survey of the literature, both oral and written, of the indigenous people of Australia. Mudrooroo is in a unique position to tell the history of indigenous literature and to comment on the key writers and texts. This is an essential starting point for anyone wishing to know more about this fascinating and controversial subject. Writing from the Fringe, Mudrooroo, 1990. Discusses the problems faced by Aboriginal writers, including pressures exerted by white editors and the tyranny of classification into genre. Explains and analyses the motives and objectives of leading Aboriginal writers. Hecate, 1990. Telling Stories, Bain Attwood, Fiona Magowan, 2001. Exploring the various forms of indigenous storytelling in Australia and New Zealand, this study is a great contribution to the recovery and accurate representation of the past. Often telling the same story from different perspectives, it examines the places of life stories and of memory in history, who tells life stories, and the purpose for which they are told. The role of story and history in the politics of land claims and the impact of language on research and writing are also discussed in this comprehensive critical and analytic approach to the nature of stories. Skins, Kateri Akiwenzie-Damm, Josie Douglas, 2000. Features work of several Indigenous writers from many countries. Australian authors include Richard Frankland, Kenny Laughton, Melissa Lucashenko, Sally Morgan, Bruce Pascoe, and Alexis Wright. Meridian, 1989. Westerly, 1998.
