Building Moonships The Grumman Lunar Module Images Of America:

Building Moonships Joshua Stoff,2004-06-23 Chronicling the visual history of the design construction and launch of the lunar module one of the most historic machines in human history In 1961 President John F Kennedy announced his plans for landing a man on the moon by 1970 despite the fact that the United States had a total of just 15 minutes of spaceflight experience up to that point With that announcement the space race had officially begun In 1962 after a strenuous competition the National Aeronautics and Space Administration NASA announced that the Grumman Aircraft Engineering Corporation of Bethpage Long Island had won the contract to build the lunar module the spacecraft that would take Americans to the moon This was the first and only vehicle designed to take humans from one world to another Although much has been written about the first men to set foot on the moon those first hesitant steps would not have been possible without the efforts of the designers and technicians assigned to Project Apollo Building Moonships The Grumman Lunar Module tells the story of the people who built and tested the lunar modules that were deployed on missions as well as the modules that never saw the light of day

Long Island Aircraft Manufacturers Joshua Stoff,2010-08-16 Take a flight with the Long Island aviation companies that helped make the industry the integral part of our world that it is today Significant aircraft manufacturing began on Long Island in the early 20th century and boomed during the war years Long Islanders helped transform aviation from a dangerous sport to a viable means of transportation while also producing a large portion of the nation s aerial arsenal in times of war From the first frail biplanes to the warbirds of World War II and the sleek fighters of the jet age aviation companies on Long Island helped make aviation the the essential business it is today During the 20th century over 70 firms came to build aircraft on Long Island Some of these firms lasted for decades and became famed builders of historic aircraft such as Grumman Republic Curtiss Fairchild and Sikorsky John F. Kennedy

International Airport Joshua Stoff,2009-07-13 John F Kennedy International Airport opened in 1948 after the realization set in that the newly built LaGuardia Airport was unable to handle the volume of air traffic for New York City Pushed through by New Yorks Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia the airport was to be located 14 miles from Manhattan in Jamaica Bay Queens on the site of the old Idlewild Golf Course For its first years Idlewild Airport as it was originally known consisted of a low budget temporary terminal and a series of Quonset huts A major new building program began in the mid 1950s and the airport rapidly changed from a ramshackle series of buildings into a glamorous looking city Renamed John F Kennedy International Airport in 1963 it has now grown to cover 5 000 acres LaGuardia Airport Joshua Stoff,2008-10-27 LaGuardia Airport named for the mayor of New York in the mid 1930s is one of America s busiest airports and has undergone great change throughout the years Constructed closer to Manhattan than the commercially unsuccessful Floyd Bennett Field LaGuardia Airport was conceived in the mid 1930s as New York City mayor Fiorello LaGuardia realized the need for a great airport for one of the world s great cities Originally known as New York Municipal Airport the popular airport soon had its name changed to recognize LaGuardia's enormous contribution to the project. At the time of its opening in 1939 it was the largest and most advanced commercial airport in the world with terminals considered art deco masterpieces. Although a very large airport for the era in which it was built by the late 1940s it was the world's busiest airport and clearly too small for the increasing amount of air traffic. Through the years its runways were lengthened and facilities were improved to handle larger and faster aircraft. Still one of America's busiest airports LaGuardia has witnessed the steady progress of American commercial aviation from flying boats to jetliners.

One Giant Leap Charles Fishman, 2020-09-22 The New York Times bestselling meticulously researched and absorbingly written The Washington Post story of the trailblazers and the ordinary Americans on the front lines of the epic Apollo 11 moon mission. President John F. Kennedy astonished the world on May 25, 1961 when he announced to Congress that the United States should land a man on the Moon by 1970. No group was more surprised than the scientists and engineers at NASA who suddenly had less than a decade to invent space travel. When Kennedy announced that goal no one knew how to navigate to the Moon. No one knew how to build a rocket big enough to reach the Moon or how to build a computer small enough and powerful enough to fly a spaceship there. No one knew what the surface of the Moon was like or what astronauts could eat as they flew there. On the day of Kennedy's historic speech America had a total of fifteen minutes of spaceflight experience with just five of those minutes outside the atmosphere. Russian dogs had more time in space than US astronauts. Over the next decade more than 400,000 scientists, engineers, and factory workers would send twenty-four astronauts to the Moon. Each hour of space flight would require one million hours of work back on Earth to get America to the Moon on July 20, 1969. A veteran space reporter with a vibrant touch, nearly every sentence has a fact, an insight, a colorful quote, or part of a piquant anecdote. The Wall Street Journal and in One Giant Leap Fishman has written the sweeping definitive behind-the-scenes account of the furious race to complete one of mankind's greatest achievements. It's a story filled with surprises from the item the astronauts almost forgot to take with them, the American flag to the extraordinary impact Apollo would have back on Earth and on the way we live today. From the research labs of MIT where the eccentric and legendary pioneer Charles Draper created the tools to fly the Apollo spaceships to the factories where dozens of women sewed spacesuits, parachutes, and even computer hardware by hand, Fishman captures the exceptional feats of these ordinary Americans. It's been 50 years since Neil Armstrong took that one small step. Fishman explains in dazzling form just how unbelievable it actually was.

Marketing the Moon David Meerman Scott, Richard Jurek, 2014-02-28 One of the most successful public relations campaigns in history featuring heroic astronauts, press-savvy rocket scientists, enthusiastic reporters, deep-pocketed defense contractors, and Tang. In July 1969, ninety-four percent of American televisions were tuned to coverage of Apollo 11's mission to the moon. How did space exploration, once the purview of rocket scientists, reach a larger audience than My Three Sons? Why did a government program whose standard operating procedure had been secrecy turn its greatest achievement into a communal experience? In Marketing the Moon

David Meerman Scott and Richard Jurek tell the story of one of the most successful marketing and public relations campaigns in history the selling of the Apollo program Primed by science fiction magazine articles and appearances by Wernher von Braun on the Tomorrowland segments of the Disneyland prime time television show Americans were a receptive audience for NASA s pioneering brand journalism Scott and Jurek describe sophisticated efforts by NASA and its many contractors to market the facts about space travel through press releases bylined articles lavishly detailed background materials and fully produced radio and television features rather than push an agenda American astronauts who signed exclusive agreements with Life magazine became the heroic and patriotic faces of the program And there was some judicious product placement Hasselblad was the first camera on the moon Sony cassette recorders and supplies of Tang were on board the capsule and astronauts were equipped with the Exer Genie personal exerciser Everyone wanted a place on the bandwagon Generously illustrated with vintage photographs artwork and advertisements many never published before Marketing the Moon shows that when Neil Armstrong took that giant leap for mankind it was a triumph not just for American engineering and rocketry but for American marketing and public relations
