Design and Implementation of Online Communities, 2001 There are many claims that building an online community on the Internet is the next big thing for online businesses to enhance their bottom line Advertising has been the biggest moneymaker on the Internet so far so attention is money on today s Internet The idea of an online community is to build communication tools into a website to allow visitors to interact with each other and encourage them to return often By providing visitors with a place to interact with others and talk about their interests companies can better target them with advertising Certainly a web site that brings users back over and over again is very appealing to any organization that is trying to sell goods or get their message heard But the building of an online community is not as simple as just adding discussion forums and or chat rooms to a web site In fact many believe that a successful community is only 10% dependent upon technology and 90% dependent upon people This thesis takes a look at the principles of successful online communities according to current literature and then analyzes the application of these principles on some popular online communities It then takes a detailed look at PRESENCE Lite an online community built by the author based on the principles of online communities
