Colonial Complexions Sharon Block,2018-03-13 In Colonial Complexions historian Sharon Block examines how Anglo Americans built racial ideologies out of descriptions of physical appearance By analyzing more than 4 000 advertisements for fugitive servants and slaves in colonial newspapers alongside scores of transatlantic sources she reveals how colonists transformed observable characteristics into racist reality Building on her expertise in digital humanities Block repurposes these well known historical sources to newly highlight how daily language called race and identity into being before the rise of scientific racism In the eighteenth century a multitude of characteristics beyond skin color factored into racial assumptions and complexion did not have a stable or singular meaning Colonists justified a race based slave labor system not by opposing black and white but by accumulating differences in the bodies they described racism was made real by marking variation from a norm on some bodies and variation as the norm on others Such subtle systemizations of racism naturalized enslavement into bodily description erased Native American heritage and privileged life history as a crucial marker of free status only for people of European based identities Colonial Complexions suggests alternative possibilities to modern formulations of racial identities and offers a precise historical analysis of the beliefs behind evolving notions of race based differences in North American history Congressional Record United States. Congress,1983 The Congressional Record is the official record of the proceedings and debates of the United States Congress It is published daily when Congress is in session The Congressional Record began publication in 1873 Debates for sessions prior to 1873 are recorded in The Debates and Proceedings in the Congress of the United States 1789 1824 the Register of Debates in Congress 1824 1837 and the Congressional Globe 1833 1873 The English Reports: Vice-Chancellors' courts (1815-1865) ,1906 The Revised Reports Frederick Pollock,Robert Campbell,Oliver Augustus Saunders,Arthur Beresford Cane,Joseph Gerald Pease,William Bowstead,1912 The Revised Reports ,1912 The Pauper Body in England and Wales 1750 to 1914 Elizabeth T. Hurren,2026-02-12 The Pauper Body in England and Wales 1750 to 1914 is based on a unique collection of 8 million words of pauper letters It features fascinating body biographies of ordinary people living in deepest poverty who used their voices to secure welfare support The Old and New Poor Law authorities often tried and frequently failed to label the poorest of people Nobodies The bodies of paupers were branded as the contaminated body those who experienced regular sexual abuse and people medically certified as mentally ill Paupers in writing resisted being characterised as a nameless broken body campaigning for official recognition In three parts Elizabeth T Hurren reveals a surprising range of relatable human stories and explores how pauper bodies retain trauma weathered by poverty and stress The chapters contain a mosaic of welfare lessons that endure despite their historical distance A striking feature of the millions of body biographies are their familiar physical symptoms and psychological predicaments Hurren also traces the historic migration of unwanted immigrants who
