An Illustrated Examination of Advanced Technology Warfare Richard S. Friedman,1985 Advanced Technology Warfare Richard S. Friedman,1985 An Illustrated Examination of Advanced Technology Warfare ,1985 War Made New Max Boot,2006-10-19 A monumental groundbreaking work now in paperback that shows how technological and strategic revolutions have transformed the battlefield Combining gripping narrative history with wide ranging analysis War Made New focuses on four revolutions in military affairs and describes how inventions ranging from gunpowder to GPS guided air strikes have remade the field of battle and shaped the rise and fall of empires War Made New begins with the Gunpowder Revolution and explains warfare s evolution from ritualistic drawn out engagements to much deadlier events precipitating the rise of the modern nation state He next explores the triumph of steel and steam during the Industrial Revolution showing how it powered the spread of European colonial empires Moving into the twentieth century and the Second Industrial Revolution Boot examines three critical clashes of World War II to illustrate how new technology such as the tank radio and airplane ushered in terrifying new forms of warfare and the rise of centralized and even totalitarian world powers Finally Boot focuses on the Gulf War the invasion of Afghanistan and the Iraq War arguing that even as cutting edge technologies have made America the greatest military power in world history advanced communications systems have allowed decentralized irregular forces to become an increasingly significant threat Advanced Technology and Future Warfare Zeev Bonen,Eliot A. Cohen,1996 The Pursuit of Technology Jennifer H. Hall,Air University (U.S.). Air Force Fellows,2013 In over 5000 years of recorded history war and conflict have been around Even during the ancient days of warfare man pursued a technological advantage over his opponent The chariot combined with the bow and arrow gave way to the first mobile stand off weapon Throughout the years developments in the fields of science and mathematics have led to the invention of the gun the aircraft and nuclear weapons With all the technological advancements the art of war remains relatively unchanged This is because wars are rarely won by advanced technologies Instead wars are won by the minds and strategies of men and women People not artifacts are at the heart of war It is the mentality decision making and inclinations of individuals that determine success or failure History is littered with examples of technical giants being overcome or thwarted by inferior opponents The future will continue this trend if militaries foster the machine over the mind The Air Force is at a point where changes to the way they recruit promote and develop officers will ensure the minds of Airmen are prepared to engage their opponent no matter the ebb and flow of technology Abstract High-tech warfare Graham Richardson,Gunston,Doug Richardson,1991 Describes the technology and weapons systems of modern warfare through the use of color photographs Includes detailed specifications for major aircraft fighting vehicles ships missiles artillery and infantry weapons China's Entrepreneurial Army Tai Ming Cheung,2001 China s Entrepreneurial Army offers a fascinating insight into the complex interwoven relationship between state power military burden and economic prosperity in today s

China From the early 1980s to the end of the 1990s the People's Liberation Army went into business to make up for falling defence spending It established the world's largest military business complex comprising thousands of army owned enterprises stretching into virtually every corner of the Chinese economy and overseas This participation in business gave the military substantial economic strength and allowed it to adapt to the changing locus of power and authority in China in the reform era which was increasingly measured through economic might But the rapid ascent of the military commercial juggernaut also sowed the seeds of its ignominious demise Corruption smuggling and profiteering became so rampant that the political reliability of the military and the health of the Chinese economy began to be undermined In 1998 the armed forces were ordered to get out of business Tai Ming Cheung traces the origins examines the participation and details the demise of the Chinese military business complex This path breaking study is a uniquely comprehensive and in depth account of this Byzantine and opaque institution and provides a vivid portrait of the corporations military units personalities and other entities that were at the heart of this commercial powerhouse Based upon extensive research of primary source Chinese publications and field work China's Entrepreneurial Army looks at the role of the military business complex from a number of different perspectives its success as a commercial venue the impact on civil military relations and the broader benefits and drawbacks of this commercialism on military professionalism and economic modernization in China and elsewhere

Interpreting China's Military Power Ka Po Ng,2005-08-09 Although inter state tensions have generally been easing after the Cold War military power remains a dominant factor in Asian regional politics As China operating the world's largest army grows stronger there are ongoing debates over the implications for Asia's regional security This book argues that it is imperative to look beyond the empirical observations and conventional materialist reading of Chinese military development to understand its dynamics and directions in doctrinal terms and put it in a readiness context for evaluation Military doctrine has long been under studied and is often treated as a subject separate from force development But as this study contends this factor is necessary for interpreting the making and purposes of China's military power because it forms the intellectual foundation of military structural and hardware development When loaded with political rhetoric it also communicates to us the intended uses of the military power The role of doctrine is reinforced in the context of military readiness which defines what for and how the army is getting ready Force development is evaluated in structural operational and directional terms The importance of this analytical framework based on military doctrine and readiness is demonstrated in a survey of the evolution of Chinese military doctrine and force development As the Chinese People's Liberation Army has continued to adjust its military structure and operation to follow the doctrinal lead its switches between the doctrines of local war and total war have seen corresponding changes to the emphasis between operational and structural readiness

Technology's War Record Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Alumni Association. War Records Committee, 1920

Diplomacy, War, and Technology Since 1830 Maurice Pearton, 1984 No other book combines so much of modern military history with so rich an exploration of related factors in industry finance education and technology as well as statecraft Combining strands of history from all these areas Pearton makes an unusually complete and cogent case for the breakdown of traditional distinctions between the civil and the military and even between war and peace This is an excellent work of military and economic history Russell F Weigley author of The American Way of War Pearton's historical approach adds needed depth and perspective to many contemporary discussions of the arms problem This is an illuminating and incisive inquiry into a phenomenon of unquestioned importance International Affairs

Artificial Intelligence and High Technology War Paul Norris Edwards, 1986

Military Gadgets Nicholas D. Evans, 2004 Coalition soldiers in the war in Iraq had access to the most extraordinary array of high tech weapons ever created Military Gadgets introduces over 100 of today's most exciting and advanced military technologies

China Debates the Future Security Environment Michael Pillsbury, National Defense University, 2021-05-03 This study offers over 600 selected quotations from the writings of over 200 Chinese authors published from 1994 to 1999 Analysis and interpretation are kept to a minimum so that the Chinese may speak for themselves Many Chinese scholars assisted with this study by providing hard to get books and articles unfamiliar to most Westerners Half the authors were interviewed in China They explained some of the viewpoints in recent debates about the future security environment Debates in China are generally concealed and frequently authors pretend they do not exist However muted they may be China's debates about the future nevertheless exist and merit attention if we are to understand the premises of China's national strategy and set a baseline from which to measure any future change in these premises

Technological Change and the Future of Warfare Michael E. O'Hanlon, 2011-04-01 In light of the spectacular performance of American high technology weapons in the 1991 Persian Gulf War as well as the phenomenal pace of innovation in the modern computer industry many defense analysts have posited that we are on the threshold of a revolution in military affairs RMA The issue has more than semantic importance Many RMA proponents have begun to argue for major changes in Pentagon budgetary priorities and even in American foreign policy more generally to free up resources to pursue a transformed U S military and to make sure that other countries do not take advantage of the purported RMA before we do This book takes a more measured perspective Beginning with a survey of various types of defense technologies it argues that while important developments are indeed under way most impressively in electronics and computer systems the overall thrust of contemporary military innovation is probably not of a revolutionary magnitude Some reorientation of U S defense dollars is appropriate largely to improve homeland defense and to take advantage of the promise of modern electronics systems and precision guided munitions But radical shifts in U S security policy and Pentagon budget priorities appear unwarranted especially if those shifts would come at the expense of American military engagement in overseas defense missions from Korea to Iraq to Bosnia
