Compromising Position:

Compromising on Justice Fabian Wendt, 2020-05-21 When we compromise on justice we accept or acquiesce to an arrangement that we judge to be unjust or at least not fully just Such arrangements are often described as constituting a modus vivendi What reasons could we have to accept a modus vivendi thereby compromising on justice Given the fact of disagreement on justice this is an important but rather neglected question in political philosophy One possible answer inspired by John Rawls is that compromising on justice is only justified if this nonetheless brings us as close to ideal justice as possible under given circumstances The most straightforward way to take issue with this answer is to present other reasons to compromise on justice The articles in this book explore epistemic reasons and those that stem from values besides justice like democracy peace toleration and non subjugation This book thereby sheds some light on the relevance of compromising for the legitimacy of institutional arrangements This book was previously published as a special issue of the Critical Review of Social and Political Philosophy House Document ,1998 American law reports annotated ,1921 The Smart Set ,1909 The Federal Reporter ,1915 Includes cases argued and determined in the District Courts of the United States and Mar May 1880 Oct Nov 1912 the Circuit Courts of the United States Sept Dec 1891 Sept Nov 1924 the Circuit Courts of Appeals of the United States Aug Oct 1911 Jan Feb 1914 the Commerce Court of the United States Sept Oct 1919 Sept Nov 1924 the Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia United States Circuit Courts of Appeals Reports ,1915
