Autonomy Of History:

The Autonomy of History Joseph M. Levine,1999-12-15 In these learned essays Joseph M Levine shows how the idea and method of modern history first began to develop during the Renaissance when a clear distinction between history and fiction was first proposed The new claims for history were met by a new skepticism in a debate that still echoes today Levine s first three essays discuss Thomas More s preoccupation with the distinction between history and fiction Erasmus s biblical criticism and the contribution of Renaissance philology to critical method and the way in which Renaissance rhetoric as in Thomas Elyot s Book of the Governor continued to inhibit the autonomy of history He then shows how these issues persisted into the eighteenth century even as critical method developed He concludes with a close description of the great controversy that culminated in Edward Gibbon s day over the authenticity of a biblical text that had been used for centuries to defend the Trinity but which turned out to be a forgery Levine shows how by then all sides were ready to concede the autonomy of history

The Invention of Autonomy Jerome B. Schneewind,1998 This remarkable book is the most comprehensive study ever written of the history of moral philosophy in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries Its aim is to set Kant s still influential ethics in its historical context by showing in detail what the central questions in moral philosophy were for him and how he arrived at his own distinctive ethical views The book is organised into four main sections each exploring moral philosophy by discussing the work of many influential philosophers of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries In an epilogue the author discusses Kant s view of his own historicity and of the aims of moral philosophy In its range in its analyses of many philosophers not discussed elsewhere and in revealing the subtle interweaving of religious and political thought with moral philosophy this is an unprecedented account of the evolution of Kant s ethics

Past Sense — Studies in Medieval and Early Modern European History Constantin Fasolt,2014-04-03 The twenty studies collected in this volume focus on the transition from the Middle Ages to the modern world The method leads from technical investigations on William Durant the Younger ca 1266 1330 and Hermann Conring 1606 1681 through reflection on the nature of historical knowledge to a break with historicism an affirmation of anachronism and a broad perspective on the history of Europe The introduction explains when and why these studies were written and places them in the context of contemporary historical thinking by drawing on Wittgenstein s Philosophical Investigations This book will appeal to
