Judaism, Sufism, and the Pietists of Medieval Egypt Elisha Russ-Fishbane, 2015-07-30 Judaism Sufism and the Pietists of Medieval Egypt addresses the extraordinary rise and inner life of the Egyptian pietist movement in the first half of the thirteenth century The creative engagement with the dominant Islamic culture was always present even when unspoken Dr Russ Fishbane calls attention to the Sufi subtext of Jewish pietism while striving not to reduce its spiritual synthesis and religious renewal to a set of political calculations Ultimately no single term or concept can fully address the creative expression of pietism that so animated Jewish society and that left its mark in numerous manuscripts and fragments from medieval Egypt Russ Fishbane offers a nuanced examination of the pietist sources on their own terms drawing as far as possible upon their own definitions and perceptions Jewish society in thirteenth century Egypt reflects the dynamic reexamination by a venerable community of its foundational texts and traditions even of its very identity and institutions viewed and reviewed in the full light of its Islamic environment The historical legacy of this religious synthesis belongs at once to the realm of Jewish culture in all its diversity and dynamism as well as to the broader spiritual orbit of Islamicate civilization

Kabbalistic Manuscripts and Textual Theory uncovers the unstated assumptions and expectations of scribes and scholars who fashioned editions from manuscripts of Jewish mystical literature. This study offers a theory of kabbalistic textuality in which the material book, the printed page, no less than handwritten manuscripts, serves as the site for textual dialogue between Jewish mystics of different periods and locations. The refashioning of the text through the process of reading and commenting that takes place on the page, in the margins and between the lines, blurs the boundaries between the traditionally defined roles of author, reader, commentator, and editor. This study shows that kabbalists and academic editors reinvented the text in their own image as part of a fluid textual process that was nothing short of transformative. This book is certainly monumental, offering in its seven hundred pages a wealth of documentation and distilled argument that manages to be both comprehensive in its materials and transparent in its critical insights. It is rare indeed that a work of such formidable scholarship can actually be a pleasure to read and convincing in its elucidation of what are often extremely complex documentary circumstances and editorial traditions.
