

A Knowing Environment

John P. Tiefenbacher

A Knowing Environment:

Environmental Knowing Gary T. Moore, Reginald G. Golledge, 1976 Tell Me Something I Don't Know: Dialogues in Epistemology Michael Veber, 2018-02-28 Tell Me Something I Don't Know is a collection of original dialogues in epistemology suitable for student readers but also of interest to experts. Familiar problems, theories, and arguments are explored, second-order knowledge, epistemic closure, the preface paradox, skepticism, pragmatic encroachment, the Gettier problem, and more. New ideas on each of these issues are also offered, defended, and critiqued, often in humorous and entertaining ways.

Textbook for Environmental Studies Dr. Shaikh Ahmad Shaikh Ismail, 2019-03-05 This textbook is written to bring about an awareness of a variety of environmental concerns. It covers a wide range of topics and issues about environmental science. It attempts to create a pro-environmental attitude and a behavioral pattern in society that is based on creating sustainable lifestyles. But a textbook can hardly be expected to achieve a total behavioral change in society. Conservation is best brought about through creating a love for nature. What Environmental Managers Really Need to Know David J. Schell, 1999

Written for new and inexperienced environmental and human resources professionals, this book discusses the problems and challenges of environmental management and provides practical solutions. Using a conversational tone, the author examines common concerns such as job description and accountability, regulations, laws, paperwork, and compliance, auditing, training, and future trends. Brief discussions of the newer areas of strategic environmental management, zero emissions, ISO 14000, and environmental cost accounting are also included. Environmental Crime Yingyi Situ, David Emmons, 1999-10-11 After defining environmental crime and discussing the extent of the environmental crisis, this book explores the causes, investigation, prosecution, and prevention of all types of environmental crime. Learning to Live with Climate Change Blanche Verlie, 2021-06-16 This imaginative and empowering book explores the ways that our emotions entangle us with climate change and offers strategies for engaging with climate anxiety that can contribute to social transformation. Climate educator Blanche Verlie draws on feminist, more-than-human, and affect theories to argue that people in high-carbon societies need to learn to live with climate change, to appreciate that human lives are interconnected with the climate, and to cultivate the emotional capacities needed to respond to the climate crisis. Learning to Live with Climate Change explores the cultural, interpersonal, and sociological dimensions of ecological distress. The book engages with Australia's 2019-2020 Black Summer of bushfires and smoke, undergraduate students' experiences of climate change, and contemporary activist movements such as the youth strikes for climate. Verlie outlines how we can collectively attune to live with and respond to the unsettling realities of climate collapse while counteracting domineering ideals of climate control. This impressive and timely work is both deeply philosophical and immediately practical. Its accessible style and real-world relevance ensure it will be valued by those researching, studying, and working in diverse fields such as sustainability, education, climate communication, human geography, cultural studies, environmental sociology, and eco-psychology, as well as the broader public. The Media, Animal Conservation and Environmental Education John Blewitt, 2013-10-31 Natural History filmmaking has a long history but the generic boundaries between it and environmental and conservation filmmaking are blurred Nature environment and animal imagery has been a mainstay of television campaigning organisations and conservation bodies from Greenpeace to the Sierra Club with vibrant images being used effectively on posters leaflets and postcards and in coffee table books media releases short films and viral emails to educate and inform the general public However critics suggest that wildlife film and photography frequently convey a false image of the state of the world's flora and fauna The environmental educator David Orr once remarked that all education is environmental education and it is possible to see all image based communication in the same way

The Media Animal Conservation and Environmental Education has contributions from filmmakers photographers researchers and academics from across the globe It explores the various ways in which film television and video are and can be used by conservationists and educators to encourage both a greater awareness of environmental and conservation issues and practical action designed to help endangered species This book is based on a special issue of the journal Environmental Education Research
