Goodly is Our Heritage Rashna B. Singh, 2004 Patterns of sublimation begin in childhood So does binary and hierarchical thinking The child must be trained to see in oppositions and on a scale of order So the story of nation and people race and culture begins as the bedtime story The author How else asks Rashna Singh do we explain the uncanny physical resemblance between Osama bin Laden and the evil Jaffar of Disney s motion picture Aladdin Singh provides a most persuasive argument for why these sentiments are both insidious and compelling and how they resonate to this day While she includes such classic examples as The Secret Garden, Robinson Crusoe and the Babar series it is her inclusion of genuinely neglected fictions that lends her analyses a special richness. In an engaging narrative style Singh demonstrates how constructions of character evolve into cultural imprints which encourage their young readers to choose the goodly side with little thought of badly repercussions.

Breaking Loose Sophie Boswell, 2012 This story will enthrall you as you follow Sophie's life from the time she was four years old. Then she lived in a small Australian town situated on the edge of the Great Dividing Range in Queensland during World War II when the country was threatened with an invasion from Japan. Her father arrives home from the war in 1945 and the family moves to Surfers Paradise, a relatively new beach town. All the while her older brother Bruce has spent most of his time locked away in boarding schools. The family moves again to postwar Brisbane where Sophie settles in. It is mature for her age and shows entrepreneurial skills. She enjoys her life there until her resentful brother suddenly arrives home to stay. The family dynamics change drastically, especially when her father takes a job in the South Pacific. While giving a colorful overview of the post-war era in Australia, Sophie shares the things that molded her character and turned her into a free-thinking and independent woman.
