Simon published THE SHAPE OF AUTOMATION For Men and Management This short but important and still topical book dwells on three subjects The Long Range Economic Effects of Automation Will the Corporation be Managed by Machines The New Science of Management Decision In contrast with George Orwell who was a critic of contemporary political systems rather than a prophet Simon portrays a far more rosy picture of our brave new world Simon's work breathes optimism First computer technology looking back it is a doubtful whether even the professor expected the hardware development we have witnessed Secondly our ability to tame the beast there is now not much reason for complacency and satisfaction Offices and factories can by no means be called automated at most semi automated Thirdly the organizational and social implications of these rapid technological developments referring to what he then called The Computer and the new decision making techniques Concerning this last point there is little need to emphasize that had been less practical application in organizations than the often impressive theoretical developments would lead one to believe In Europe this situation is even more acute than in the USA and Japan The ESPRIT programme of the ECC and many similar national programs intend to bridge the gap
