The Dawn of the Color Photograph David Okuefuna,2008 In 1909 the French banker and philanthropist Albert Kahn launched a monumentally ambitious project to produce a color photographic record of human life on Earth An internationalist and pacifist Kahn believed that he could use the new autochrome the world s first portable true color photographic process to create a global photographic archive that would promote cross cultural understanding and peace Over the next twenty years he sent a group of photographers to more than fifty countries around the world amassing more than 72 000 images Until recently his collection was all but forgotten Now a century after he began his Archives of the Planet project this book richly illustrated in color throughout and the BBC series it follows are bringing Kahn s dazzling early twentieth century pictures to a wide audience for the first time and putting color into what we usually think of as a monochrome world Kahn s photographers captured times places and people we simply do not expect to see in color photographs They documented age old cultures on the brink of being changed forever by war modernization and Westernization recording the last years of Ireland s traditional Celtic villages and the late days of the Austro Hungarian and Ottoman empires They photographed First World War soldiers in their trenches as well as the postwar celebrations in London In the course of their travels they also took the earliest color photographs in countries as varied as Vietnam and Brazil Mongolia and Norway Benin and the United States After being financially ruined in the Great Depression Kahn was forced to bring his project to a premature end but today his collection of early color photographs is recognized as one of the world s most important The Dawn of the Color Photograph makes it easy to see why The Eighth Art, etc. (A life of color photography.).
