This book presents a collection of papers from the Spring 1995 Work shop on Computational Approaches to Processing the Prosody of Spontaneous Speech hosted by the ATR Interpreting Telecommunications Research Laboratories in Kyoto Japan The workshop brought together leading researchers in the fields of speech and signal processing electrical engineering psychology and linguistics to discuss aspects of spontaneous speech prosody and to suggest approaches to its computational analysis and modelling The book is divided into four sections Part I gives an overview and theoretical background to the nature of spontaneous speech differentiating it from the lab speech that has been the focus of so many earlier analyses Part II focuses on the prosodic features of discourse and the structure of the spoken message Part III on the generation and modelling of prosody for computer speech synthesis Part IV discusses how prosodic information can be used in the context of automatic speech recognition Each section of the book starts with an invited overview paper to situate the chapters in the context of current research We feel that this collection of papers offers interesting insights into the scope and nature of the problems concerned with the computational analysis and modelling of real spontaneous speech and expect that these works will not only form the basis of further developments in each field but also merge to form an integrated computational model of prosody for a better understanding of human processing of the complex interactions of the speech chain Speech Science and Technology Shuzo Saito,1992 Speech Perception, Production and Linguistic Structure Yoh'ichi Tohkura,Eric Vatikiotis-Bateson,Yoshinori Sagisaka,1992 Progress in Speech Synthesis Jan P.H. van Santen,Richard Sproat,Joseph Olive,Julia Hirschberg,2013-06-29 For a machine to convert text into sounds that humans can understand as speech requires an enormous range of components from abstract analysis of discourse structure to synthesis and modulation of the acoustic output Work in the field is thus inherently interdisciplinary involving linguistics computer science acoustics and psychology This collection of articles by leading researchers in each of the fields involved in text to speech synthesis provides a picture of recent work in laboratories throughout the world and of the problems and challenges that remain By providing samples of synthesized speech as well as video demonstrations for several of the synthesizers discussed the book will also allow the reader to judge what all the work adds up to that is how good is the synthetic speech we can now produce Topics covered include Signal processing and source modeling Linguistic analysis Articulatory synthesis and visual speech Concatenative synthesis and automated segmentation Prosodic analysis of natural speech Synthesis of prosody Evaluation and perception Systems and applications The Etude ,1900 A monthly journal for the musician the music student and all music lovers Louisiana Agriculture ,1993 Annual Bulletin ,1980 Official Gazette of the United States Patent and Trademark Office ,1998 The Massachusetts register ,2001 Mind Over Muscle Lillian Jeffreys Petri,1924
