Achieving Environmental Standards:

Achieving Environmental Standards Michael J. Gilbert, Richard Gould, 1998 Focuses on auditing planning implementing and maintaining the environmental management system The text demonstrates the sound cost savings and public image spin offs to be made by being environmentally conscious Environmental Standards Klaus Pinkau, Ortwin Renn, 1998-02-28 It is not uncommon that a group of scientists from many different disciplines join a working group discuss a topic of interest and edit a volume of articles related to this topic They may even agree on a jointly written introduction or conclusion The study group Environmental Standards established in 1987 as an expert panel of the German Academy of Sciences and Technology in Berlin broke with that common tradition and became involved in a fascinating but also painstaking experiment to compose a document on setting environmental standards that has been literally written and authorized by all group members The group consisted of eleven individuals representing the following disciplines physics chemistry biology engineering law psychology and sociology economics The study group had two major goals First to provide a document that summarizes the state of the art in each discipline with respect to the topic of environmental standards Since it is impossible to cover all environmental hazards in one book the panel members agreed to limit the discussion of the scientific material to one major case study the effects of ionizing radiation This topic was selected because the scientific data base is well developed in this area and levels of anthropogenic release can be compared with natural background levels These two conditions are rarely met by most chemical hazards

Green innovation and industrial ecosystem reconstruction in achieving environmental sustainability Huaping Sun, Kai Fang, Yongjiang Shi, 2023-02-02 The Lilliputians of Environmental Regulation Michelle C. Pautz, Sara Rinfret, 2013-03-05 When we think about environmental policy and regulation in the U S our attention invariably falls on the federal level and more specifically the U S Environmental Protection Agency Although such a focus is understandable it neglects the actors most responsible for the implementation and maintenance of the nation s environmental laws the states Recognition of the importance of the states still ignores an even smaller subsection of actors inspectors These front line actors in state environmental agencies are the individuals responsible for writing environmental rules and ensuring compliance with those rules They play an important role in the environmental regulatory state With data collected from more than 1 200 inspectors across 17 states Michelle C Pautz and Sara R Rinfret take a closer look at these neglected actors to better understand how environmental regulators perceive the regulated community and how they characterize their interactions with them In doing so they explore the role these front line actors play what it is like to be them what they think of their place in the environmental regulatory system and how they interact with the regulated community An original timely and unmatched volume advancing the debate on the future of environmental regulation in the U S Achieving Environmental Goals Erik Lykke, 1992 Domestic and Regional Environmental Laws and Policies in Africa Jean-Claude N. Ashukem, Semie M. Sama, 2023-11-10 This book explores African domestic and regional responses and approaches to environmental protection and sustainability Written by African experts the collection consists of five parts covering the whole of Africa It provides broad coverage of specific themes including environmental constitutionalism climate change gender and the environment wildlife trade environmental justice and human displacement The key aims are first to explore theoretical and empirical studies to interrogate and provide clarity on academic discourse on how and whether environmental human rights approaches and policy implications have effectively enhanced environmental protection and sustainability at African domestic levels Second to investigate and present innovative solutions on how African domestic legal regimes deal with environmental justice natural resources governance refugees environmental rights and climate induced displaced persons Finally to propose innovative legal and institutionalised solutions to Africa s ecological realities by determining the legal and regulatory gaps on environmental human rights issues on the continent The collection will be a valuable resource for researchers academics and policymakers in human rights law environmental law political science ecology and conservation environmental management disaster management and development studies
