Complex Predicates In Oceanic Languages:

Complex Predicates in Oceanic Languages Isabelle Bril, Françoise Ozanne-Rivierre, 2012-04-17 Serial verbs and complex predicates have a long history of research yet there is comparatively little documentation on Oceanic languages This volume presents new data for further typological studies While previous research on serial verbs in Oceanic languages was mostly devoted to core serial constructions with non contiguous sV o sV o nuclei this volume contributes a more detailed investigation of the nuclear type of complex predicates involving contiguous sVV o nuclei Complex predicates of the form VV may correspond to two different syntactic structures either co ranking or hierarchized head modifier Though the VV pattern does evidence a tendency towards structural compression often entailing the fusion of the argument structures of two or more nuclei yet it cannot be reduced to cases of co lexicalization compounding or grammaticalization The data also show the nuclear type to be compatible with all types of basic word orders VSO VOS SVO SOV with no evidence that this results from any word order change This challenges the claim that nuclear serialization correlates with verb final order and core serialization with verb medial order

Kageyama, Peter E. Hook, Prashant Pardeshi, 2021-02-20 This volume is the first to present a detailed survey of the systems of verb verb complexes in Asian languages from both a synchronic and diachronic perspective Many Asian languages share to a greater or lesser extent a unique class of compound verbs consisting of a main verb and a quasi auxiliary verb known as a vector or explicator These quasi auxiliary verbs exhibit unique grammatical behaviour that suggests that they have an intermediate status between full lexical verbs and wholly reduced auxiliaries They are also semantically unique in that when they are combined with main verbs they can convey a rich variety of functional meanings beyond the traditional notions of tense aspect and modality such as manner and intensity of action benefaction for speaker or hearer and polite or derogatory styles in speech In this book leading specialists in a range of Asian languages offer an in depth analysis of the long standing questions relating to the diachrony and geographical distribution of verb verb complexes The findings have implications for the general understanding of the grammaticalization of verb categories complex predicate formation aktionsart and event semantics the morphology syntax semantics interface areal linguistics and typology
