Report

At 11:40 a.m. on Monday, October 1, 2001, the world was shocked by the news that a large passenger jet had crashed into the World Trade Center in New York City. The crash, which was the result of a terrorist attack, resulted in the deaths of 2,606 people and the destruction of the World Trade Center. The Richard Inquiry was established to investigate the circumstances surrounding the crash and to identify the causes of the disaster. The report of the inquiry is a comprehensive and detailed account of the events leading up to the crash, the actions of the flight crew, and the response of the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) and other agencies. The report also includes recommendations for improving aviation safety and preventing similar disasters in the future.
