Washed with Sun Jeremy Foster, 2014-08-15 South Africa is recognized as a site of both political turmoil and natural beauty and yet little work has been done in connecting these defining national characteristics Washed with Sun achieves this conjunction in its multidisciplinary study of South Africa as a space at once natural and constructed Weaving together practical aesthetic and ideological analyses Jeremy Foster examines the role of landscape in forming the cultural iconographies and spatialities that shaped the imaginary geography of emerging nationhood Looking in particular at the years following the British victory in the second Boer War from 1902 to 1930 Foster discusses the influence of painting writing architecture and photography on the construction of a shared romanticized landscape subjectivity that was perceived as inseparable from being South African and thus helped forge the imagined community of white South Africa In its innovative approach to South Africa's history Washed with Sun breaks important new ground combining the persuasive theory of cultural geography with the material specificity of landscape history

Siting Culture Kirsten Hastrup, Karen Fog Olwig, 2005-06-20 Culture has been subject to critical debate in anthropology during the past decade and this is related to a shift in emphasis from the bounded local culture to transnational cultural flows At the same time that cultural mobility is being emphasized the people studied by anthropologists are recasting culture as a place of belonging as they construct local identities within global fields of relations

So far much of the analysis of the role of place in culture has been carried out at a level of theoretical debate. Siting Culture argues that it is only through rich ethnographic studies that anthropologists may explore the significance of place in the global space of relations which mould the lives of people throughout the world. By examining the concept of culture through case studies from Europe, Africa, Oceania, Latin America and the Caribbean, it probes the methodological and theoretical implications of the divergent scholarly and popular concepts of culture.

Dark Tourism Glenn Hooper, John J. Lennon, 2016-07-15. Dark Tourism as well as other terms such as Thanatourism and Grief Tourism has been much discussed in the past two decades. This volume provides a comprehensive exploration of the subject from the point of view of both practice: how Dark Tourism is performed, what practical and physical considerations exist on site and interpretation; how Dark Tourism is understood, including issues pertaining to ethics, community involvement and motivation. It showcases a wide range of examples drawing on the expertise of academics with management and consultancy experience as well as those from within the social sciences and humanities. Contributors discuss the historical development of Dark Tourism, including its earlier incarnations across Europe, but they also consider its future as a strand within academic discourse as well as its role within tourism development. Case studies include Holocaust sites in Germany as well as analysis of the legacy of war in places such as the Channel Islands and Malta. Ethical and myriad marketing considerations are also discussed in relation to Ireland, Brazil, Rwanda, Romania, U.K., Nepal and Bosnia Herzegovina. This book covers issues that are of interest to students and staff across a spectrum of disciplines from management to the arts and humanities, including conservation and heritage site management, marketing and community participation.

Davis, 2007. Picturing the Nation presents a visual history of modern India and explores visual representations of India from the late nineteenth to the late twentieth centuries. The images include chromolithographs, posters, cards and photographs of architecture and cultural displays. Market: University and college departments of history, sociology, social anthropology, the visual arts, art history. The book is also accessible to a wider audience interested in the visual media and in the history of modern India. Julian Nelson,1999 Conference Proceedings ,2000 Dictionary of Artists: Bülow - Cossin Emmanuel Bénézit,2006 First English language edition of Emmanuel B n zit s Dictionnaire critique et documentaire des peintres sculpteurs dessinateurs et graveurs based on the 14 volume French edition published in 1999 It has been revised adapted and updated Preface The Seaside, Health and the Environment in England and Wales Since 1800 John Hassan,2003 The seaside has always held a special position in British history as a place of rest relaxation and recuperation Over the last 200 years many have made their way to the coast attracted by the long sunshine hours the clean ozone charged air and the opportunities for bathing in and even drinking sea water Although the early health resort ideal began to give way to more pleasure orientated themes in the nineteenth century the seaside holiday was still regarded by many as a wholesome and invigorating break from inland urban life well into the twentieth century Yet with ever increasing numbers of visitors and rising levels of coastal pollution this was by no means a forgone conclusion The Seaside Health and the Environment in England and Wales since 1800 explores the ways in which English seaside resorts continually reinvented themselves to take account of contemporary trends in popular leisure and maintain their hold on the public s imagination Particular account is paid to the interwar years when new obsessions with outdoor activities such as sunbathing and tanning were purposefully adopted by the industry to define the modern image of the resort holiday For these and other reasons the seaside holiday reached new peaks of popularity in the 1930s and 1950s yet this very success placed enormous pressures on the environmental amenities that people came to enjoy As this work shows environmental stresses were manifold particularly pollution of the resorts prime assets their beaches As such serious questions are raised concerning why it took such a long time for a determined effort to be made to reverse beach pollution and the lessons to be learned regarding the impact of negative images of the coast as a zone of danger and infection
