Arid Lands Water Evaluation and Management Robert Maliva, Thomas Missimer, 2012-06-09 A large part of the global population lives in arid lands which have low rainfall and often lack the water required for sustainable population and economic growth This book presents a comprehensive description of the hydrogeology and hydrologic processes at work in arid lands It describes the techniques that can be used to assess and manage the water resources of these areas with an emphasis on groundwater resources including recent advances in hydrologic evaluation and the differences between how aquifer systems behave in arid lands versus more humid areas Water management techniques are described and summarized to show how a more comprehensive approach to water management is required in these areas including the need to be aware of cultural sensitivities and conditions unique to many arid regions The integration of existing resources with the addition of new water sources such as desalination of brackish water and seawater along with reusing treated wastewater will be required to meet future water supply needs Also changing climatic conditions will force water management systems to be more robust so that future water supply demands can be met as droughts become more intense and rainfall events become more intense A range of water management techniques are described and discussed in order to illustrate the methods for integrating these measures within the context of arid lands conditions

The Future of Arid Lands-Revisited Charles F. Hutchinson, Stefanie M. Herrmann, 2007-12-07 UNESCO commemorated its sixtieth anniversary in 2005 It was a year for reflection a time to look back on the progress made and the achievements accomplished over the last 60 years To celebrate the importance and relevance of science at UNESCO a publication entitled Sixty Years of Science at UNESCO 1945 2005 was launched in 2006 which offers an insight into the organization's commitment towards and endeavors in science from the past through to the present day Within the United Nations System UNESCO has one of the longest traditions in addressing dryland problems from a scientific point of view As it happened arid zones were precisely at the centre of UNESCO's earliest efforts at international scientific collaboration in the study of natural resources The first international research program dealing with these zones was launched back in 1951 under the direction of an International Advisory Committee It was continued until 1964 after being raised to the status of a Major Project of the Organization in 1957 This Major Project was a pioneer program in many respects One of its merits and not the least was that it blazed a trail in its interdisciplinary approach to the study of natural resources and its holistic view of the problems of arid and semiarid zones
