Archaeology, History, and Predictive Modeling David G. Anderson, Steven D. Smith, 2003-08-20 Fort Polk Military Reservation encompasses approximately 139 000 acres in western Louisiana 40 miles southwest of Alexandria As a result of federal mandates for cultural resource investigation more archaeological work has been undertaken there beginning in the 1970s than has occurred at any other comparably sized area in Louisiana or at most other localities in the southeastern United States The extensive program of survey excavation testing and large scale data and artifact recovery as well as historic and archival research has yielded a massive amount of information While superbly curated by the U S Army the material has been difficult to examine and comprehend in its totality With this volume Anderson and Smith collate and synthesize all the information into a comprehensive whole Included are previous investigations an overview of local environmental conditions base military history and architecture and the prehistoric and historic cultural sequence An analysis of location environmental and assemblage data employing a sample of more than 2 800 sites and isolated finds was used to develop a predictive model that identifies areas where significant cultural resources are likely to occur Developed in 1995 this model has already proven to be highly accurate and easy to use Archaeology History and Predictive Modeling will allow scholars to more easily examine the record of human activity over the past 13 000 or more years in this part of western Louisiana and adjacent portions of east Texas It will be useful to southeastern archaeologists and anthropologists both professional and amateur David G Anderson is an archaeologist with the National Park Service s Southeast Archeological Center in Tallahassee Florida and coeditor of The Woodland Southeast Steven D Smith is with SCIAA in Columbia South Carolina J W Joseph and Mary Beth Reed are with New South Associates in Stone Mountain Georgia Guide American Anthropological Association, 2006 Cultural Resources Overview for Northwestern California Jerome King, William R. Spatial Approaches in African Archaeology Cameron Gokee, Carla Klehm, 2023-01-01 This book explores the interplay between African archaeology and geospatial methods from three broad perspectives First several contributors examine the technical possibilities and limits of using satellite imagery to detect archaeological sites and model their physical environs A second perspective is the integration of new geospatial data and methods into site and landscape scale analyses to better address questions about social organization and subjective experience in African pasts A final perspective considers the interplay between geospatial technologies and community archaeology in Africa Recognizing that GIS and RS supersede traditional divisions in African archaeology such as different periods geographic regions and theoretical orientations the chapters aim to be widely applicable Arranged by methodological emphasis the case studies move from technical discussions of specific geospatial tools to general applications for addressing specific sociohistorical topics Each chapter clearly explains the links between their archaeological questions and analytical methods as well as how their results advance our understanding of African pasts and heritage resources Many of the chapters can serve as learning models for archaeologists who are new to GIS or curious about its applications to their work Others represent recent advances in geospatial applications of greater interest to more seasoned GIS practitioners demonstrating the potential for African scholarship to contribute to methodological innovations This book is of interest to students and researchers of African and historical archaeology and anthropology Previously published in African Archaeological Review Volume 37 issue 1 March 2020

Art History is centrally concerned with a vast array of three dimensional objects such as sculptures and spaces such as architecture Digital technologies allow the creation of virtual spaces which in turn allow us to simulate and compare aspects of a visual culture s three dimensional timespace that cannot be communicated as a single still image The third issue thus focusses on the third dimension in Art History and the digital realm that continues to mediate and transform it
