Construction Contract Administration Ralph W. Liebing, 1998 This unique introduction to contract administration is designed especially for those who need to understand the contract administration process overall rather than the fine details and who have not yet developed a background of professional experience or insight Using a simplified approach to a complex evolving area it provides an up to date overview of the entire process including the general philosophy and rationale and the roles obligations and responsibilities of all major participants in a construction project Appropriate for all construction disciplines e g architecture engineering construction management construction it focuses on those topics that cross several occupational lines and that are directly usable by any of the major project participants Does not require professional experience and insight Incorporates the latest techniques configurations and approaches used in the field Makes a clear distinction between contract administration and construction management Defines the contract administrator as one hired by an owner but not part of the owner contractor agreement who oversees the dynamics of the project assessing deviations from Contract Administration Pitfalls and Solutions for Architect-Engineering Projects Bob Jack,2015-06-05 The basic building block of all architect engineering firms is the client funded individual project These firms of all sizes and complexities have one thing in common they all operate under the authority of contracts that must be successfully executed to ensure overall success and continuity of the firm Without that success the firm goes out of business It therefore holds true that the degree to which these contracts are successfully managed determines the degree of success or failure of the enterprise This journal therefore is dedicated to the business process we refer to as contract administration or the combined acts of the firms staff to ensure that all elements desired by the client are formulated into a relationship that is reduced to writing known as the written contract and then successfully executed by the firm Whether the company is comprised of one hundred employees or ten thousand these contracts must be administered for success within budget and within schedule and meet the changing dynamics of the projects requirements over time Effective contract administration is essentially a sound communications process that guarantees that fundamental information in the contract relationship is disseminated to the project and support personnel who are expected to perform the contracts requirements This journal describes those tasks that must be executed to ensure that contract administration is a successful outcome and that all the players on the company team execute their individual tasks professionally repetitiously and successfully Construction Administration in Architectural Practice Arthur F.
