Architecture Of Klas Anshelm:

Architecture of Klas Anshelm Olle Svedberg, 2004 This book presents a range of architect Klas Anshelm's extensive work Active in Lund during a period of three decades from the 1950s until his demise in 1980 he left a clear imprint on Lund and surroundings in buildings ranging in size and purpose from summer cottages to cultural institutes to larger industrial complexes From his position far from the capital Stockholm he did not receive the same extensive media coverage as generational colleagues such as Peter Celsing but in later years his rugged and function based approach to modernism won appreciation both in Sweden and abroad and he has come to be compared with the work of the senior master architect Sigurd Lewrentz Includes an introductory essays by Olle Svedberg Professor Emeritus in architectural history and author of number of books on architecture and architecture history

Claesson Koivisto Rune Architects Claesson Koivisto Rune, 2023-06-06 25 successful years of creativity The monograph offers comprehensive insight into the working methods of the internationally acknowledged contemporary Swedish architectural firm Founded in Stockholm by Morten Claesson Eero Koivisto and Ola Rune as an architectural firm it has developed into a multidisciplinary office with an equal emphasis on architecture and product design This comprehensive monograph sums up the 25 successful years of creativity by Claesson Koivisto Rune This compilation introduces more than 50 construction projects from the early works up to the present using architectural drawings texts and color photos taken especially for the volume buildings constructed as well as trendsetting projects that were not realized Also included are design objects that were developed for individual buildings Architecture and product design from a single source Over 50 international projects from Scandinavia the US and China The epitome of the aesthetics of the new millennium Paola Antonelli MoMA

Architecture of the Home Ola Nylander, 2002-10-11 Regardless of individual taste some homes are indisputably more charged have more atmosphere and are more welcoming than others But what is it that gives them these qualities and what steps can those involved in housing design and construction take to ensure that they are creating a positive environment for residents The Architecture of the Home presents an analysis of non measurable architectonic attributes that are indispensable to the quality of the home and are particularly important to the resident's perception of their dwelling The attractive home in which functional and practical aspects interact with aesthetic and sensual ones is described in terms of seven fields of attributes materials and detailing axiality enclosure movement spatial figures daylight and organisation of spaces Ola Nylander presents his detailed research in an engaging and accessible manner and supports his argument through case studies of four apartment complexes including interviews with residents and architects The lessons learnt from this carefully chosen selection can be applied throughout the world in any field of housing from the most affordable to the most luxurious Far too many people are still condemned to live in homes that are unattractive and inhospitable which can have a profound effect on their sense of wellbeing and self worth This book offers a straightforward approach to housing design which could make such negative environments a thing of the past The Architecture of the Home equips architects students of architecture housing contractors building consultants housing companies landlords and all other people interested in housing issues with the tools they need to make a healthy contribution to our living environment

Ecological by Design Kjetil Fallan, 2022-11-22 How ecological design emerged in Scandinavia during the 1960s and 1970s building on both Scandinavia's design culture and its environmental movement Scandinavia is famous for its design culture and for its pioneering efforts toward a sustainable future In Ecological by Design Kjetil Fallan shows how these two forces came together in the late 1960s and early 1970s when Scandinavian designers began to question the endless cycle in which designed objects are produced consumed discarded and replaced in quick succession The emergence of ecological design in Scandinavia at the height of the popular environmental movement Fallan suggests illuminates a little known reciprocity between environmentalism and design not only did design play a role in the rise of modern environmentalism but ecological thinking influenced the transformation in design culture in Scandinavia and beyond that began as the modernist faith in progress and prosperity waned Fallan describes the efforts of Scandinavian designers to forge an environmental ethics in a commercial design culture sustained by consumption shows by recounting a quest for sustainability through Norwegian woods that one of the main characteristics of ecological design is attention to both the local and the global and explores the emergence of a respectful and sustainable paradigm for international development Case studies trace key connections to continental Europe Britain the US Central America and East Africa Today ideas of sustainability permeate design discourse but the historical emergence of ecological design remains largely undiscussed With this trailblazing book Fallan fills that gap

A Guide to Swedish Architecture, 2001 Here for the first time Swedish architecture is presented in all its diversity Five authors guide us around 280 of Sweden's most noteworthy buildings and describe their architecture Castles and cathedrals are presented side by side with traditional timber buildings and modern residential developments in an eye opening journey from south to north Drawings and color photos make the book as useful before as after a visit All the authors are architects and experts in their field

Weather Architecture Jonathan Hill, 2013-06-17 Weather Architecture further extends Jonathan Hill's investigation of authorship by recognising the creativity of the weather At a time when environmental awareness is of growing relevance the overriding aim is to understand a history of architecture as a history of weather and thus to consider the weather as an architectural author that affects design construction and use in a creative dialogue with other authors such as the architect and user Environmental discussions in architecture tend to focus on the practical or the poetic but here they are considered together Rather than investigate architecture s relations to the weather in isolation they are integrated into a wider discussion of cultural and social influences on architecture The analysis of weather s effects on the design and experience of specific buildings and gardens is interwoven with a historical survey of changing attitudes to the weather in the arts sciences and society leading to a critical re evaluation of contemporary responses to climate change

O'Neil Ford Monograph 2 Wilfried Wang,2009 Klippan is a village located in the rural south of Sweden for which in 1962 at the age of 77 Swedish architect Sigurd Lewerentz was invited to design a church It was to become his most important commission St Petri Klippan is both a modern as well as an archaic structure The brickwork with its irregular mortar joints its dark colour and the light absorbing interior is modern in its vertical surfaces and archaic in its vaulting To this day and for many architects searching for a reflective constructional basis for contemporary architecture St Petri Klippan is an ideal for another contemporary architecture one that is matter of factual and poetic at the same time clear and mysterious immediately present as well as recessive credible as architecture as much as it is background to the primary experience This second O Neil Ford Monograph reproduces extensive hitherto unpublished archival material as well as the results of a measured survey of the main church with a selection of details by students of the School of Architecture at The University of Texas at Austin The monograph opens with three essays the discursive context its significance and its constructional history It concludes with a comprehensive selection of photographs Encyclopedia of 20th Century Architecture R. Stephen Sennott,2004 For more information including the introduction a full list of entries and contributors a generous selection of sample pages and more visit the Encycloped ia of 20th Century Architecture website Focusing on architecture from all regions of the world this three volume set profiles the twentieth century s vast chronicle of architectural achievements both within and well beyond the theoretical confines of modernism Unlike existing works this encyclopedia examines the complexities of rapidly changing global conditions that have dispersed modern architectural types movements styles and building practices across traditional geographic and cultural boundaries Architecture Today ,2004 Gert Wingårdh, Architect Gert Wingårdh,2001 The architectural scene in Sweden is less prominent internationally than that of Austria or Switzerland and yet there are highly interesting discoveries to be made Gert Wingardh is one such discovery His architecture is reminiscent of Frank Lloyd Wright with its cheerful spaciousness and the aesthetically pleasing details would be worthy of Carlo Scarpa His buildings do not stubbornly adhere to one style but are a response to the task in hand and the surrounding environmental conditions Sweden s rich tradition of building with wood and a strong ecological awareness are combined with high tech expertise With successful projects such as the school building in Nodinge the control tower at Stockholm s Arlanda airport the science centre in Gothenburg Ericsson s office in London and the chancellery at the Swedish Embassy in Berlin Wingardh has become Sweden s most prominent architect heading his own architectural firm with offices in Gothenburg and Stockholm since 1977 Architecture in Sweden, 1973-83 ,1983 Lewerentz Fragments Jonathan Foote,Hansjörg

Göritz, Matthew Hall, Nathan Matteson, 2021-09-03 The publication Lewerentz Fragments introduces new scholarship on the architect's motivations and compiles new essays from all the major scholars on his work for the first time in one volume presenting both historical and critical perspectives Through new essays recently discovered archival material photography and drawings the publication Lewerentz Fragments explores the architect's body of work spanning three quarters of the twentieth century Comprising writings from all the major scholars on Lewerentz work along with several new voices this publication offers new insight into the context surrounding this architect's work Rather than focusing on a single thesis the book offers a diversity of insight from multiple cultural and professional perspectives In addition previously unpublished translations of interviews and dialogs among the architect and his contemporaries offer a voice to the silent architect altering the traditional interpretations of the work and digging past the surface of what might be considered his philosophy of building Rather than serving as an introduction to the architect's work this volume provides detailed fragments as a deep and diverse dive into one of the most mysterious of Scandinavia's modern masters Contributors Johan Celsing Patrick Doan Nicola Flora Jonathan Foote Matthew Hall Per Iwansson Thomas Bo Jensen Nathan Matteson Enrico Miglietta Paolo Giardiello Hansjörg Göritz Magnus Gustafsson Mariana Manner Anne Marie Nelson Gennaro Postiglione Wilfried Wang Ola Wedebrunn With Contributions of Archival reproductions from the Swedish Centre for Architecture and Design ArkDes The Stockholm stadsarkiv and The Malmö stadsarkiv Historical construction photos of St Peter's Church by Carl Hugo and Lars Gustafsson Photos of the newly constructed St Peter's Church by Ole Meyer Previously unpublished archival photographs of Lewerentz work Translations of various archival documents and audio interviews with the architect Current photography of the architect's work from a variety of photographers Funding support Auburn University College of Architecture Design Construction Aarhus School of Architecture DePaul University College of Computing and Digital Media The King Gustaf VI Adolfs fund for Swedish Culture The Peter and Birgitta Celsing Foundation The University of Tennessee College of Architecture Design

Sweden Thorbjörn Andersson, Deutsches Architekturmuseum, 1998 Sweden 20th Century Architecture is the latest volume of a critical series devoted to introducing the reader to European architecture country by country This handsomely illustrated book details how a century's worth of social changes are reflected in the development of Swedish architecture Featured are the various periods in which Swedish architecture and urban planning were at the forefront of European design The volume also examines the current construction techniques employed in numerous modern buildings and the diverse looks they achieve It explains Sweden's progressive role in the modern movement with architecture that is functionalist and aesthetic and distinctly Nordic in character It explains both the continuity and the contradictions between the classicism of the 1920s and 1930s as well as its softened welfare state variant of the 1940s an era in which Sweden became a model for the rebuilding of many European countries The time of the great programs in the 1960s both in housing and in the building of public institutions is analyzed in detail as is the crisis in architectural quality caused by the structure of the building trade dating from that time A new generation of architects more internationally oriented and creatively open minded but also faithful to the Swedish tradition is presented in the close of the chronological chapters Sweden 20th Century Architecture includes an enormous number of projects and the reader learns theoretically and visually about the top quality architecture of this country Avery Index to Architectural Periodicals. 2d Ed., Rev. and Enl Avery Library,1973 Architecture in Sweden, 1984-89 Olof Hultin,1989
