Are We Having Fun Yet? Joyce Jennison, 2005-05 Clutching an armload of baseball mitts and billiard balls I ran after my brood trying to pick up items that were blocking the aisles I added a pair of tennis shoes several baseball caps the camping silverware and a handful of sweat bands to my cache Meanwhile the wiffle balls bounced off my legs and I shouted for my wrecking crew to stop Finally they ran into a display and I pounced on them Unfortunately I dropped most of my huge armload but I had them Suddenly I became aware of the spectacle we had created All around there were people quietly staring at us Everywhere I looked I saw devastation created by my children Had the store sustained a 7.5 earthquake the damage could not have been worse I honestly didn't know what to do Author Joyce Jennison firmly believes that if enough time passes one will be able to see humor in what once was a very trying experience On that premise she has written a very amusing satirical account of her family's life adventures Jump on board and enjoy the wild ride through some of the Jennison's most unbelievable and hysterical happenings

Literally, the Best Language Book Ever Paul Yeager, 2008-05-06 By turns gleefully precise and happily contrarian this is a highly opinionated guide to better communication In Literally the Best Language Book Ever author Paul Yeager attacks with a linguistic scalpel the illogical expressions and misappropriated meanings that are so commonplace and annoying Identifying hundreds of common language miscues Yeager provides an astute look at the world of words and how we abuse them every day For the grammar snobs looking for any port in a storm of subpar syntax or the self-confessed rubes seeking a helping hand this witty guide can transform even the least literate into the epitome of eloquence
