Batavia-Jakarta, 1600-2000 Ewald Ebing,Youetta de Jager,2021-11-01 This is an odd book An extensive and sometimes annotated bibliography it is not a book in the sense of a narrative However if treated as a book in the traditional sense it leads the reader through a broad spectrum of feelings of amazement curiosity and desire amazement about the sheer volume richness and detail of the literature on Batavia Jakarta curiosity about the contents of certain publications or series of publications with attractive titles and a feeling of desire immediately to begin an investigation into one of the appealing subjects stumbled upon while leafing through The bibliography contains over 5000 titles classified into 42 broad subject categories The vast majority of the publications consists of books but the number of articles is also very substantial Most of these titles 3500 were produced after 1950 The larger part of the publications are written in Indonesian Dutch and to a lesser extent English But also publications in such languages as French Chinese German Japanese Russian and many others were listed Indexes of authors of subjects and of titles make this bibliography easily accessible

Scaling Urban Environmental Challenges Peter J. Marcotullio,Gordon McGranahan,2012-06-25 Think globally act locally emphasizes the importance of scale in dealing with environmental challenges but not how to factor it in This major new book focuses on the spatial dimensions of urban environmental burdens showing how important it is to take these into account when pursuing environmental justice and good governance whether in the context of the sanitary risks of slum living the pollution of uncontrolled industrialization and motorization or the enormous ecological footprints of affluent urban lifestyles Written by leading experts in the fields of urban development and environmental planning the book reviews the urban environmental shifts that have shaped today's challenges and examines conditions and problems in the urban centres of low middle and high income countries Case studies address such economically diverse cities as Accra New Delhi Mexico City and Manchester while thematic chapters explore issues including water sanitation and transportation The book concludes by exploring and analysing different scales of governance The editors argue that we should not rely solely on local governance to address local burdens like poor sanitation nor depend only on global governance for global challenges such as greenhouse gas emissions but that scale is crucial in both understanding the problems and devising successful responses Published with UNU IAS and IIED

Urban Flood Risk Management Christopher Silver,2021-11-03 Like so many of the coastal cities in Southeast Asia and other regions established during European colonialism there has been an ongoing challenge for decades dealing with the growing frequency and intensity of flooding Jakarta's flood problems since the 1990s have been nothing less than monumental and the inability of the local and national governments to mitigate flooding in Jakarta is the most visible manifestation of fundamental water management deficiencies This book offers a comprehensive and systematic historical assessment of Jakarta s water management practices from the colonial era through the early years of the Indonesian republic and Jakarta s emergence as a sprawling megacity This book draws upon a vast multidisciplinary literature and a wide array of government documents to unravel the complex history of water management that has led to approximately 40% of the city now lying below sea level This book will be a useful reference to those who research on topics such as urbanization in Southeast Asia sustainable development urban and planning history environmental planning issues of water management and flooding and the politics of planning and development Sustainable Cities Revisited II - 7058iied International Institute for Environment & Development,1999

Implementing the Habitat Agenda Edmundo Werna, André Dzikus, Lynette Ochola, Mano Kumarasuriyar, 2019-01-15
Published in 1999 this text provides a comprehensive view of the problematique of urban children in developing countries It starts by demonstrating why it is important to address housing and settlement related problems faced by the children in developing countries The book emphasizes that the problematique under scrutiny is so vast that one could face strong difficulties in trying to implement a multitude of isolated parallel projects and programmes to address a vast number of particular issues The book demonstrates the existence of strong linkages between the particular issues analyzed It suggests that a child centred integrated approach constitutes a good priority for intervention In terms of evaluation one could also face difficulties if trying to devise an all inclusive method for the whole developing world The book therefore suggests that a simple set of general indicators for evaluation which have international approval should be used in conjunction with locally constructed indicators Implementing the Habitat Agenda Edmundo Werna, 1999 This text provides a comprehensive view of the problematique of urban children in developing countries It starts by demonstrating why it is important to address housing and settlement related problems faced by the children in developing countries The book emphasizes that the problematique under scrutiny is so vast that one could face strong difficulties in trying to implement a multitude of isolated parallel projects and programmes to address a vast number of particular issues The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells, 1998 Index Islamicus ,1998 Bibliography of Southeast Asia Kim See Ch'ng, 2003-06-18
