Cscl 2 Carrying Forward The Conversation:

Cscl 2 Timothy Koschmann, Rogers P. Hall, Naomi Miyake, 2013-05-13 CSCL 2 Carrying Forward the Conversation is a thorough and up to date survey of recent developments in Computer Supported Collaborative Learning one of the fastest growing areas of research in the learning sciences A follow up to CSCL Theory and Practice of an Emerging Paradigm 1996 this volume both documents how the field has grown and fosters a meaningful discussion of how the research program might be advanced in substantive ways Recognizing the long standing traditions of CSCL work in Europe and Japan the editors sought to broaden and expand the conversation both geographically and topically The 45 participating authors represent a range of disciplinary backgrounds including anthropology communication studies computer science education psychology and philosophy and offer international perspectives on the field For each chapter the goal was not only to show how it connects to past and future work in CSCL but also how it contributes to the interests of other research communities Toward this end the volume features a conversational structure consisting of target chapters invited commentaries and author responses The commentaries on each chapter were solicited from a diverse collection of writers including prominent scholars in anthropology of education social studies of science CSCW argumentation activity theory language and social interaction ecological psychology and other areas The volume is divided into three sections Part I explores four case studies of technology transfer involving CSILE one of the most prominent CSCL projects Part II focuses on empirical studies of learning in collaborative settings Part III describes novel CSCL technologies and the theories underlying their design Historically there has been a certain amount of controversy as to what the second C in CSCL should represent The conventional meaning is collaborative but there are many C words that can be seen as relevant With the publication of this volume conversational might be added to the list and in this spirit the book might be viewed as an invitation to join a conversation in progress and to carry it forward

Global Introduction to CSCL Gerry Stahl, 2017-02-08 This introduction to CSCL by Gerry Stahl Tim Koschmann and Dan Suthers is perhaps the most quoted paper in the CSCL field Here are both the 2020 third version and the original version from the Cambridge Handbook of the Learning Sciences first edition Accompanying it are translations into Spanish Portuguese Chinese traditional and simplified Romanian and German What We Know About CSCL Jan-Willem Strijbos, Paul A. Kirschner, Rob L. Martens, 2006-04-11 A Dutch policy scientist once said the information and knowledge in the twenty first century has the shelf life of fresh fish and learning in this age often means learning where and how to find something and how to relate it to a specific situation instead of knowing everything one needs to know On top of this the world has become so highly interconnected that we have come to realise that every decision that we make can have repercussions somewhere else To touch as many bases as possible we need to work with knowledgeable others from different fields multiple agents and take heed of their points of view multiple representations To do this we make increasing use of computers and computer mediated communication If computer supported collaborative learning CSCL is not simply a newly discovered hype in education what is it and why are we writing a book about it Dissecting the phrase into its constituent parts we see that first of all CSCL is about learning and in the twenty first century this usually means constructivist learning The Cambridge Handbook of the Learning Sciences R. Keith Sawyer, 2005-04-24 Learning sciences is an interdisciplinary field that studies teaching and learning The sciences of learning include cognitive science educational psychology computer science anthropology sociology neuroscience and other fields The Cambridge Handbook of the Learning Sciences first published in 2006 shows how educators can use the learning sciences to design more effective learning environments including school classrooms and also informal settings such as science centers or after school clubs on line distance learning and computer based tutoring software The chapters in this handbook each describe exciting new classroom environments based on the latest science about how children learn CHLS is a true handbook in that readers can use it to design the schools of the future schools that will prepare graduates to participate in a global society that is increasingly based on knowledge and innovation Handbook of Research on Educational Communications and Technology David Jonassen, Michael J. Spector, Marcy Driscoll, M. David Merrill, Jeroen van Merriënboer, Marcy P. Driscoll, 2008-09-25 First Published in 2008 Sponsored by the Association of Educational Communication and Technology AECT the third edition of this groundbreaking Handbook continues the mission of its predecessors to provide up to date summaries and syntheses of recent research pertinent to the educational uses of information and communication technologies In addition to updating this new edition has been expanded from forty one to fifty six chapters organized into the following six sections foundations strategies technologies models design and development and methodological issues In response to feedback from users of the second edition the following changes have been built into this edition More Comprehensive topical coverage has been expanded from forty one to fifty six chapters and includes many more chapters on technology than in previous editions Restructured Chapters this edition features shorter chapters with introductory abstracts keyword definitions and extended bibliographies More International more than 20% of the contributing authors and one of the volume editors are non
